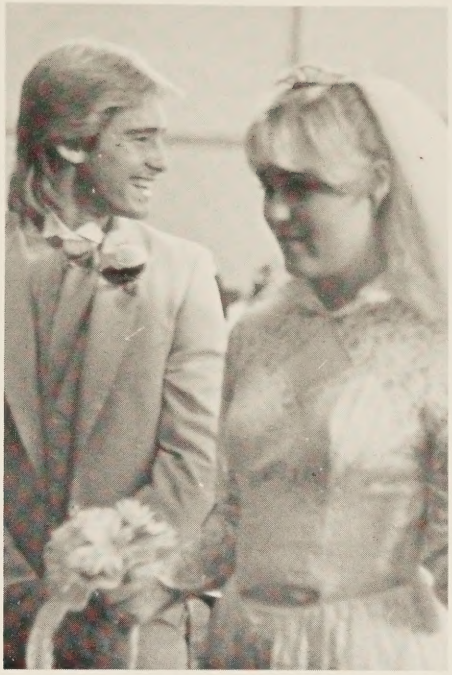
ET — EVERYBODY'S TRUCKIN'

People were constantly on the move this year. On the international scene, chaos and war were ever-threatening. The Lebanese crisis, the Falkland Island dispute between Britain and Argentina, and the fighting in El Salvador were all examples of conflicts that could have led to dangerous international situations. Officials were moving to help keep order in society. With the birth of Prince William to Princess Diana and Prince Charles, a new link was added to the royal chain. Presidents and Prime Ministers made decisions that changed the microcosms of many people. Reaganomics caused great problems for some people. With certain benefit cuts, many Americans found it hard to live. Unemployment soared and those with jobs feared losing them. On the local level, these problems affected us all, but we still tried to do it all.

Churchland High School was a place of high activity — from football to forensics. Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and yes, even Freshmen, were involved in sports, student organizations, academic activities, music, and drama. With all this to keep them busy, some students were fortunate enough to find time to do classwork, homework, and even Advance Placement work.

There were complaints about being just a number in the computer age, but this year the computer arrived at Churchland and many students learned how to use it. The computers were Model III TRS-80's and were made and sold by Radio Shack. The students learned both cobol and basic language to operate the terminals. The classes dealt with data processing, which helped in business toward their goals.

These activities were what kept our school Truckin'.



Mock Wedding. Billy Kline and Wendy Parker are unofficially married.

ACTIVITIES ACTIVITIES

Students did not spend all their time working on grades. Hobbies, night life and other activities were an important part of the high school years. Besides doing homework, students found time to be "foot loose and fancy free."

Once Friday night finally arrived students got together with friends to enjoy area entertainment. Almost every weekend started off with a trip to one of the many sporting events. Most of the games were followed by dances where everyone started to groove. Before going home students managed to stop by the famous Burger King parking lot where the rest of the weekend was planned out. Students also found time to be alone with that "someone special."

Energetic students often sacrificed their weekend time in search of the almighty dollar. Many students found employment at the newly opened Hardees and Wendy's. One might have seen several familiar faces at such stores as Roses, Food Town, or Farm Fresh. The money was usually saved for college or to buy that dream car or taffeta dress.

Between the school-sponsored events and area amusements, Truckers were offered a wide variety of entertainment. Student life comprised a myriad of challenging activities.

Double vision. Fishing at Craney Island is a favorite summer activity.

AN EYE ON CHURCHLAND

The sun's rays glimmered on the calm Elizabeth River which streamed through the Churchland area to the Chesapeake Bay. Already blessed by the natural beauty of an area surrounded by water, Churchland was also enhanced by crepe myrtles, azaleas, camellias, and a host of other flowering shrubs and trees. Many residents enjoyed an afternoon spent by the water in the spring as the tulips blossomed, and in the autumn as the trees turned golden. Cool breezes wafted from the water to the screened-in porches of the homes in Sterling Point and Hatton Point which dotted the river. Moonlight and man-made light threw golden pathways across the dark waters and attracted the more romantic of the Churchland residents.

Late night lights. Virginia Chemicals illuminates West Norfolk.

A silver lining. Clouds are not unwelcome in an area often plagued by water shortages.

Starbright. Even a cloudy sunset can paint a beautiful picture.

A LOOK INSIDE

Churchland was once, believe it or not, a vast area of farmland owned by Mr. A.B. Greene. He was a prosperous man, who planted many crops. Numerous trucks rolled in and out of this area carrying his corn and soybeans. Of course, as time went by, the small town grew.

The Churchland community developed a wide spectrum of interests. Churches of many denominations were built and were regularly attended. In fact the name "Churchland" developed because of the abundance of churches in the community. Because of the unity of the churches in the area, the residents became committed to the development of a high standard of living. Always a family-oriented community, little league football, baseball, and basketball sporting activities were held annually. This year the Palimino Baseball team, which is made up of Churchland youths ages sixteen to eighteen, won the District Title and advanced to the playoffs which were held in Mansfield, Ohio.

For the residents who appreciated beauty, Coleman's Nursery was a popular place for taking a leisurely stroll while viewing the beautiful plants and flowers. During Christmas Coleman's was the most popular family-gathering place. Beautiful displays, including the Christmas circus and the Winter Wonderland, were offered at no cost for public viewing.

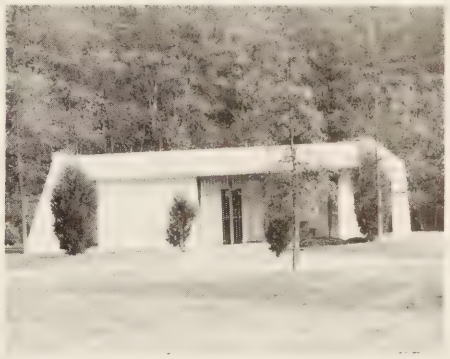
The community spirit, which was probably most visible at Christmas contributed to the quality of Churchland living.

Houses of worship. Centenary United Methodist Church and St. Christopher's Episcopal church represent two of the many churches that gave "Churchland" its name.

Home of Christmas Wonderland. One of Churchland's first businesses, Coleman's exemplifies community spirit through their Christmas displays.

Hit, run, score! Many cheers for victory are heard from Churchland's little league fields.

Farms, where? The entrance to Greenefield Farms is a reminder to all of the past and how prosperous the area has become.



Shelter. This pavilion is usually seen filled with picnicers enjoying a sunny day.

Objet d'Art? No, but it provides the younger generation a chance to have a good time.

The picnic place. This sign marks the entrance to Churchland Park where many Churchland students play tennis, softball or just relax.

NIGHTLIFE

When the lights went down, where did CHS students turn up? Of course everybody had their favorite "hang-out." As soon as seniors turned 18, they headed for 4400. Punk rockers, who were brave enought, went to The Wave. Obviously the Freshman ruled Zero's.

A typical Friday night for CHS students was going to a football or basketball game. Later, students went for pizza or a dance at Western Branch (believe it or not!). Others went to the Fun Spot or rode down to the beach to "cruise the strip." Clara Wright spent her Fridays at Wornoms visiting Billy.

Most students agreed Fridays were for their friends and Saturdays for their dates. Going to a movie or out to dinner were typical dates. CHS couples were seen at Carlos Murphys and Chi Chis.

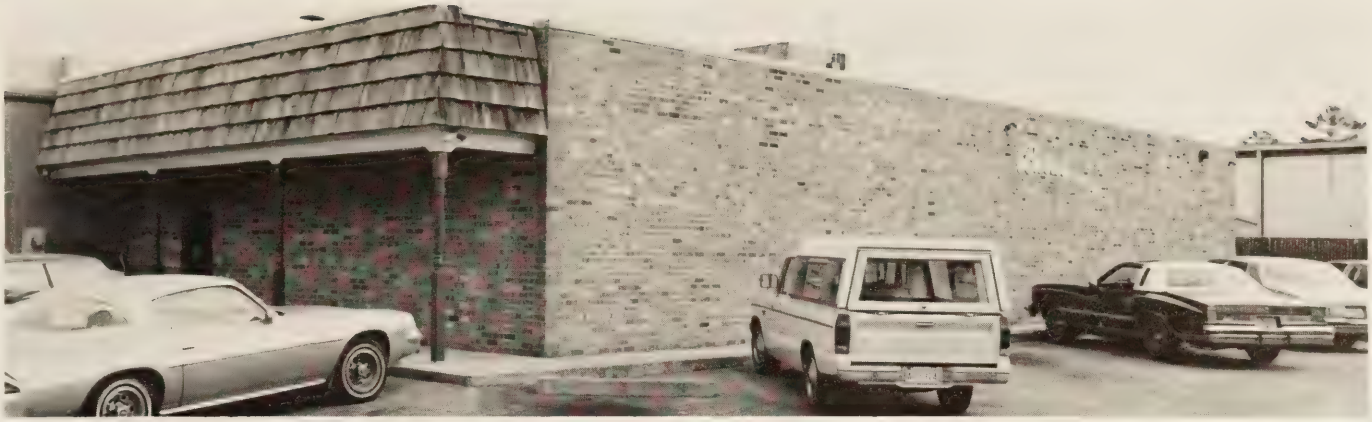
Some CHS students got adventurous and travelled to their favorite college or university. Everyone came back to school on Mondays raving about the "wild parties" at Tech, William and Mary, UVa., and Radford. Susan Johnson and Brian Veal enjoyed weekends at Tech. Katy Walden "wa-hoo-wahed" at UVa. Beth Resolute boogeyed at William and Mary, and Valerie White "threw down" at Radford.

Sunday was a great day to wind down and watch sports on television or go outside with your friends to play football or softball.

Churchland students found a variety of places to go and things to do in 1983.

Rival school. Churchland students attend outstanding dances at Western Branch High School.

College football. Because of the NFL strike, students were reduced to watching college football.



Hot spot. After turning eighteen, many students spend after-hours at the Barrel.

Video fever. Fun Spot is the place to go to spend quarters playing "Donkey Kong."

Scenic campus. The local community college offers a beautiful view of the Elizabeth River as well as unique drama presented in the area's only black box theater.

FASHION

"Hey bud, why's your hair green?"

Questions like this rang through the halls of Churchland. Teachers as well as students had to live with the great technological advances of the punk rockers. Wild hair was not the only characteristic of a new waver, though. A new style of shoes known as "vans" canvassed the feet of almost every student. To top off a gentleman's attire for the evening, he usually donned a eight and one half by thirteen inch generic brand purple bandana for his neck.

For the female type punkers, the shorter mini-skirts came back into style. There was only one minor stipulation: if they didn't have polka-dots, plaids, or even stripes on them, you didn't wear them. Colored tights and white sneakers completed this mod outfit.

Overall the punkers devastated the school, but the preppies, geeks, and southern rockers were still there. The so-called preps donned Ralph Lauren, better known as "Polo", as part of their new attire. Replacing the numerous shades of green this year were purple and pink. The only thing that did not change was the prep's best friend, the topsider. Last but not least in our score of fashions were the great rednecks and geeks. For the 746th year the usual attire was Levi's (slightly faded), an OP t-shirt (with surfboards on it of course) and the famed desert boots to cover a surfer's cut feet.

So now we can look forward to a future of new styles and changes. Who knows what totally awesome and "narly" clothes await us in the ninth dimension.

Short skirts. Every fashionable girl's wardrobe includes a mini-skirt even though it can not be worn to school.

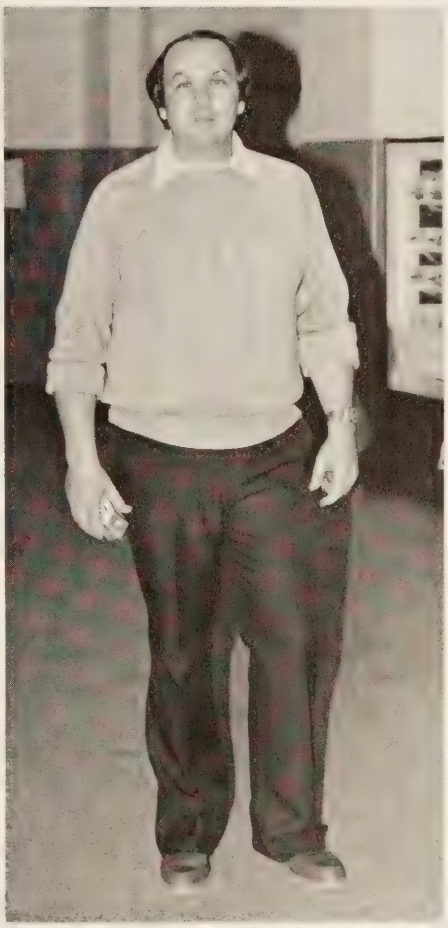
Whips and chains. Tommy Duckwall dresses in the punkers' attire.

Colonial days? Churchland student models the latest fashion, knickers.

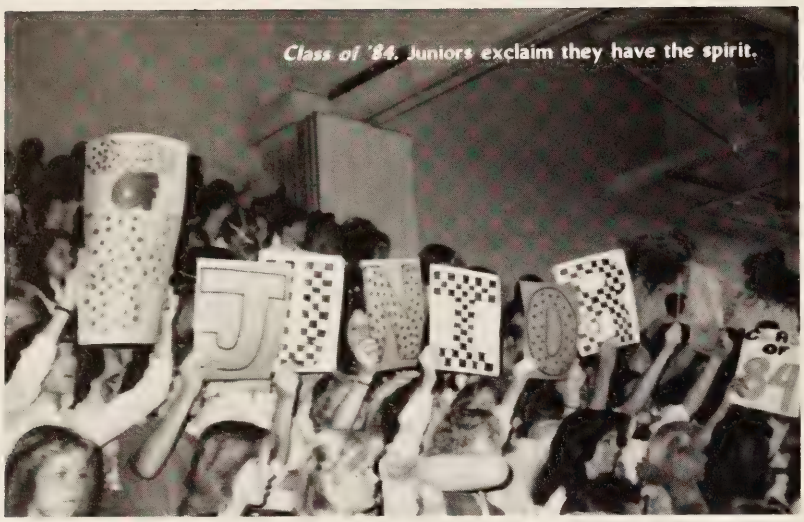
The latest style. These "vans" are a popular attire for the feet.

Geeks. John Burton and friend "break bad" with their bandanas.

Preps. The sweaters are a prep's most valuable possession besides Ralph Lauren.

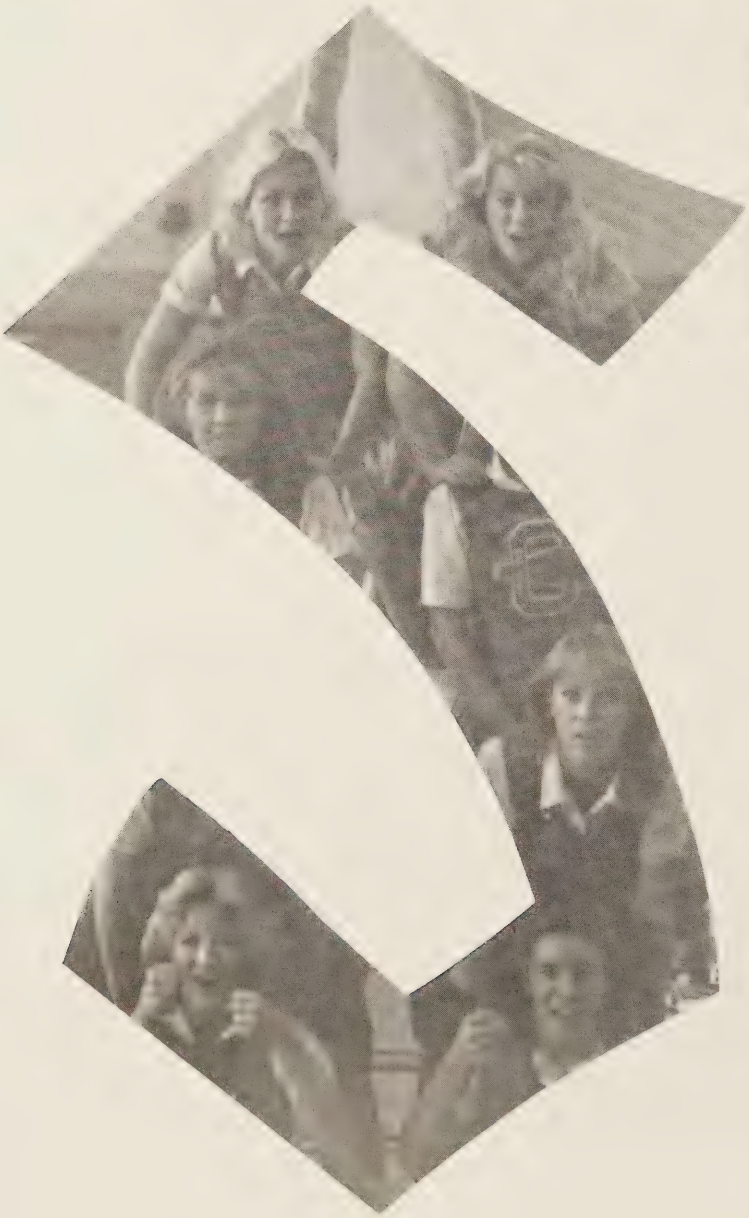


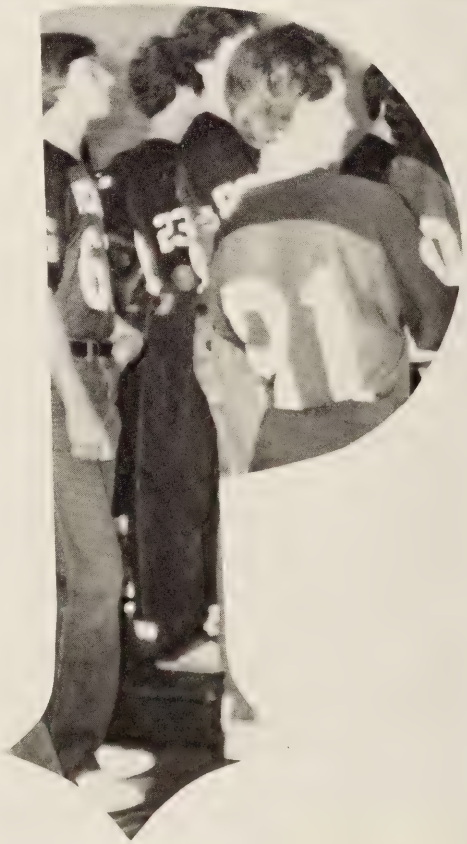
Preppie?! Coach Phelps models a male version of the prep.



Class of '84. Juniors exclaim they have the spirit.

Go Trackers! Senior Susan Powell supports her team.





"How do you feel? We feel good." The spirit at Churchland High School can no longer be labeled "apathetic." The cheerleaders have added spice and rhythm to the pep rallies. The cheer 'Hey Everybody' causes wild uproars in the form of questionable yells from certain Senior guys to a dance contest held on the gym floor. Asked about the spirit in our school, some students remarked:

Lisa Saunders, Senior: "We are more spirited than last year but only at pep rallies and football games. At our school, you work your way up from a quiet freshman to a rowdy senior. Seniors as a rule are loudest."

Jessica Man, Freshman: "Churchland is a pretty spirited school but a lot of people get carried away. The Seniors have the most spirit. The Freshmen are too embarrassed to yell plus we are all scattered out."

Brian Veal, Senior: "The only time veryone is spirited is at pep allies and when we are winning ames. When the team is losing, erybody wants to cut us down. hen we're winning everybody wants to cheer. It's wrong! People should support us during the good and the bad times or not support us at all."

Demetrius Turner, Senior: "I think our school has a lot of spirit. I love it at the pep rallies especially when Stacey Smith starts 'jamin' to the cheer 'Hey Everybody.'"

Brian Hinton, Sophomore: "We don't have that much spirit at our school. At least not compared to other schools."

Ronald Levin, Senior: "The spirit at Churchland is still waiting to be aroused."

Francisco Hardy, Senior: "The spirit at our school is lacking compared to last year."

Lori Saunders, Senior: "We have more spirit this year than in the past but we have a long way to go."

Larnette Wright, Senior: "The band music really gets me spirited. The whole flag squad gets in the Trucker mood."

Whip it!!! The majorettes "get down" to the beat.

ONLY TIME WILL TELL

A spark of enthusiasm went off as floats, parades and beautiful girls graced homecoming week.

The spirit competition among classes lasted all week. The seniors won every event including Crazy Day, where they sported "punk" and other strange costumes, and the Spirit Link Contest, which provided a colorful chain for decorating the stadium.

An assembly on Wednesday featured the Court and the escorts. Freshman Bonnie Babb was escorted by John Cobb and sophomore Robyn Twine was escorted by Jun Chung. The juniors eligible for Maid of Honor were Andy Akers, escorted by Billy Boyer; Julia Babbitt, escorted by Jeff St. George; Elizabeth Grigg, escorted by Scott Alvey; Wendy Hansen, escorted by Mark Marshall; Colleen Parker, escorted by Greg Mitchell; Melody Pitts escorted by Mike Aleksa.

The nominees for Homecoming Queen were Lory Crone, escorted by Chris Crawford; Susan Johnson escorted by Jeff Dupree; Susan Powell, escorted by Chris Pfeiffer; Lisa Saunders, escorted by Trey White; Lori Saunders, escorted by Bobby Wynn; Stacey Smith, escorted by Bob Webb.

Thursday night the bonfire blazed the skies around Churchland, and the event featured the band and cheerleaders.

The pep rally on Friday excited the student body and team, and set the scene for the final day. Signs were allowed for the first time this year, and class rivalry echoed through the halls. The seniors cheered the loudest, thus culminating their sweep of the week's events.

The ROTC, band, little league teams and cheerleaders, class floats, Homecoming Court and assorted dignitaries, led by Mayor Johansen and Principal Edgar Morgan, marched from Roses back lot to Churchland in the annual parade. Shortly after the parade the pre-game festivities, highlighted by the band, began.

Senior Lory Crone was crowned Queen and junior Wendy Hansen was named Maid of Honor by S.C.A. President Todd Porter. The girls in their beautiful dresses and their escorts in tuxedoes made a beautiful tableaux on the playing field. After the Court left the field, the Truckers went on to romp over Manor.

A Homecoming Dance held in the gym capped this special week. "Truckers who participated in the events will always remember this special week," said Dorothy West. Seniors responsible for Homecoming '82 were Jane Hege and Marian Thurnher under the sponsorship of Major Carl Kusky.

Homecoming Queen. Lory Crone escorted by Chris Crawford strolls to the stage during the assembly.

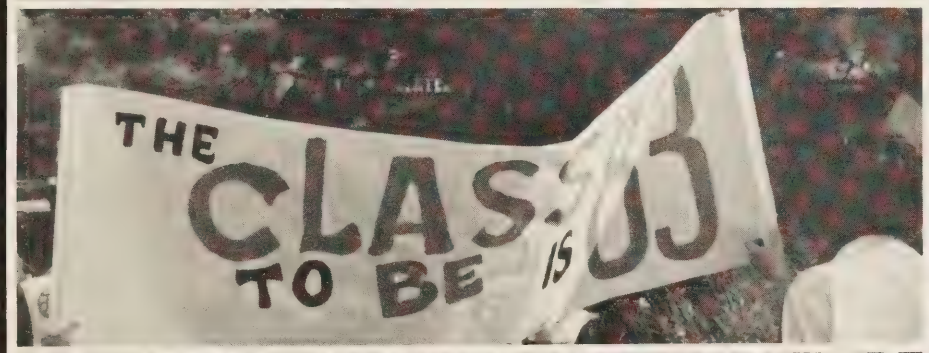
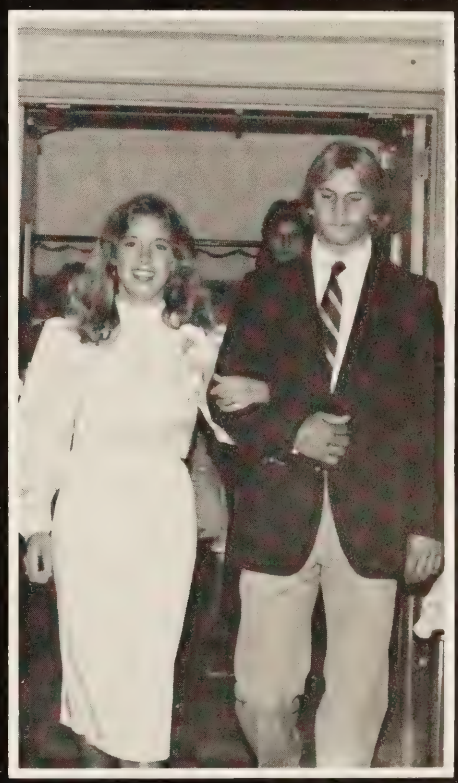
Cute Couple. Susan Powell escorted by Chris Pfeiffer enjoys the assembly.



Homecoming Court. These girls are the 1982-83 Homecoming Court.
First Place. The senior class constructed a prize-winning float.



We're not nervous. Julia Babbitt escorted by Jeff St. George casually enter the assembly.
What a banner. The seniors sure want all to know who is the best.
Just singing along. The Chorus Department built a float which won second prize in the judging.

DECADE OF CHANGE

The world changed greatly in the decade from 1973 to 1983 and this change was apparent in Churchland not only in the fashions but also in school life. A stricter dress code kept students from wearing such items as jeans and slacks unless they were part of a coordinating outfit. Today, many students would not be able to adjust if they were not allowed to wear their favorite Jordache or Gloria Vanderbilt jeans. If skirts were too short, Miss Murphy sent girls home to change. Such mini-skirts have been outlawed in the halls of Churchland in 1983. As the guys trapsed down the hall, the girls of 1973 slyly collected the loops off their button-down shirts.

In 1973 school was everyone's social activity, according to Churchland graduate Mrs. Lynn Clements. Churchland was the site for the prom and many great dances that featured "live" bands as compared to our usual D.J.'s. Pep rallies were held in the stadium as the students gathered on the football field to make spirit chains. After everyone was situated, the chain would whip around across the field. The annual powder puff game was also held but during '73 the girls dressed out in the team's equipment. The scores were lower since the equipment bogged them down. After a football game or dance, most students went to Shoney's, a local drive-in. Their radios were always tuned to a station that played the favorites: The Who, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, or the Rolling Stones. Many of these groups are still popular in 1983.

There were both positive and negative aspects to attending school at Churchland in 1973. Bussing was started in an effort to integrate the schools. Many conflicts arose and such events as assemblies were canceled or discontinued. One student privilege which has since been discontinued was the use of a school day to sign annuals. The day yearbooks were delivered teachers gave students the whole day to sign them. Today, signing must take place during lunch or after school.

While Mr. Oliver Paige, Mr. Carl Rhodes, Mrs. Elizabeth Duke, Mrs. Barbara King, and Miss Lucille Murphy were a few of the teachers who ruled Churchland in 1973, Mr. Richard Nixon was the President of the United States. Such world events as the oil embargo and Vietnam were in the news. The United States rejoiced as the Vietnam War ended in 1973. In November of this year in Washington, D.C. a memorial for all the soldiers who died in Vietnam, or who were missing in action, was unveiled.

Today America is at peace with the world, but young men must still register for the draft at age eighteen. While the times have changed, our world is still faced with some similar problems.

Symmetrical curls. Before curling irons regained popularity, hairstyles were set with rollers and lots of Dippety-do.

Long hair and fast bikes. Class officers posed on motorcycles for the 1973 Trucker, signalling that this trend had found its way to CHS.

Faithful. Mr. O.L. Paige has put up with a decade of students.

What a change. Styles since 1973 have changed from hip huggers to waist-high pants.
Fans remain the same. The stands of CHS have only changed with time, not with people.

What outfits! Times have changed, especially wardrobes.

Nice outfit. Churchland student models an upbeat outfit of '83.

CULTURAL ARTS

As the arts flourished in Tidewater, so did the arts flourish at Churchland. The band, led by Mary Gugler, started practice two weeks before school started. They marched in the intense heat while perfecting various formations. During the summer, practice lasted for three hours. The band members cheered as practice was reduced to two hours with the start of school. The band traveled to three competitions held in North Carolina, Indian River and Bayside placing second, fifth and third respectively. The band season ended with a bang as they played at the annual powder puff game.

The chorus, under the direction of Fae Buckley, rehearsed constantly to put on shows such as the October SongFest, Christmas Concert, Spring Concert and Villager Show. "The Villagers worked harder than ever to perform many excellent shows," said Karen Cooper. Rehearsals involved learning choreography as well as music. Putting the two together gave the Villagers real "show biz" spirit. The chorus was involved in such competitions as Regional Chorus, All-State Chorus and Honors Choir.

The stage was lit with theatre arts. Thespian Troupe #598 and the Drama Club performed renowned plays such as The Miracle Worker and Carnival. These talented actors and actresses shown brightly when performing "A Night of One Acts." the drama class presented such well-loved stories as "The Gift of the Magi" and "This Way to Heaven." The theatre season was produced under the direction of Debbie Scott.

"Kate, I want you to make it perfectly clear." Bob Webb and Sherie Speegle perform in The Miracle Worker.

Play away. The CHS band plays for many functions. The Dick Davis rally is a good example.

Splash of patriotism. The Villagers add their touch to the mock election.

Pondering her part in "Prometheus." Heather Nelson studies lines in Drama Class.

Helen eats with a spoon. Jenni Steinberg (Annie) rehearses scenes from The Miracle Worker with her sister Jill (Helen).

Band helps Davis. The CHS band played at a Dick Davis rally.

AFTER 2:00 P.M.

Ringgg . . . ! Lockers slammed, doors banged and students screamed as the bell sounded, marking the end of school. The seniors had the privilege of early release, while the other CHS students stayed until the final bell. The students who had taken advantage of this opportunity got a head start on afternoon pastimes.

Speaking of afternoon pastimes, did anyone remember what happened to Nola and Mr. McCord? Or Luke and Holly? Most CHS students could give a detailed answer, because many hours were spent watching "Guiding Light" and "General Hospital." Other students were not so lucky and homework became the first priority.

With college just around the corner, money became the second priority of many students. The only way to get money was by obtaining a job. The most popular places of employment with Churchland students were Roses, Farm Fresh, and various shops at Tower Mall. Underclassmen spent time in their own arcades at home, Atari or Intellivision, or at Fun Spot, which required many quarters.

Besides the above activities many truckin' students were involved in cultural arts, which included chorus, band and drama. Dedicated athletes also remained after school, and practiced during vacations. Frankie Mosteller said, "Practice is tough but I really enjoy wrestling." These activities involved long rehearsals and practices everyday after school.

No matter what went on after school, Churchland students always found time to "munch out." Either at home or at Burger King or Hardees many of our truckin' students were found.

Finally, other students spent time at Nautilus and Holiday Health and Fitness Center to work and build their bodies.

With all these activities to keep the Truckers busy it is a wonder how they manage to find time to go to school.

Goodbye. CHS students are elated when the two o'clock bell rings.

Getting ready to play. After school some students are involved in bands which require hours of practice.

The "TV." When school is out, many people rush home to their televisions.

On television. Alexis Carrington Colby and Mark Jennings of Dynasty embrace, as Alexis seeks solace after her son's death.

Here's to you. B.F. Schlegel (Mark Lauer) and Rosalie (Stacey Smith) toast each other in the musical number "Humming" from the production of Carnival. Both worked long hours to perfect the scene.

MOCK ELECTIONS

As the R.O.T.C. Color Guard set the mood for the assembly with the showing of "Old Glory," the candidate representatives in the CHS Mock Election nervously looked over their speeches. Even though the activity was not required, many students volunteered to take part. Kristin Swanson, Mistress of Ceremonies, and Bob Webb, the announcer, added to the authenticity of the mock election.

Mrs. Tracey Dussia, government teacher, noted that "the purpose of the mock election was to generate enthusiasm and interest in the political system. It was an effort to overcome apathy."

Seventy-six percent of the seniors came forward to sign up to vote, the largest percentage to register. The overall percentage of the student body voting was fifty-nine percent, a smaller percentage than the nearly seventy-five percent in the actual city election.

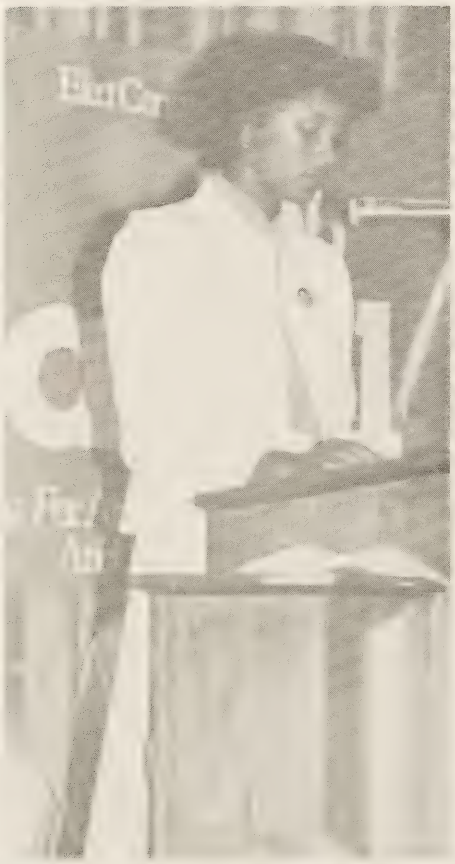
In the race for Commonwealth's Attorney, Tom Duckwall, aided by Kim Little, spoke for George Talbot, an Independent. Pamela Williams and Campaign Manager William Norman supported Democrat Johnny Morrison. Talbot won at CHS with fifty-two percent of the vote but was defeated by Morrison in Portsmouth.

In the Eightieth District race, Tony Pritchard was in favor of Flemming Little and Steve Roberts backed Cleaves Manning. Manning triumped over Little by a percentage of almost three to one.

The representatives for the Seventy-ninth District race were James Trailor for Jay Garrett and Chip Olander, aided by the theatrical Mike York, for Johnny Joannou. Joannou, Democrat, won both in Churchland and in the district.

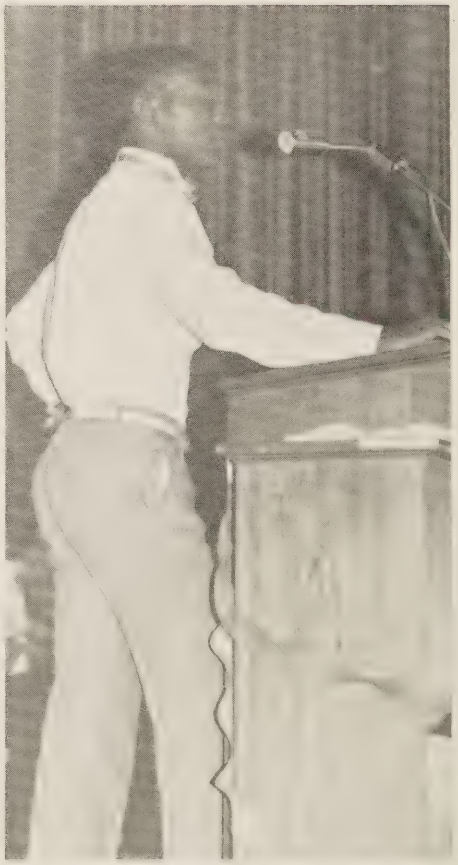
In the Fourth District Congressional race, Sherie Speegle represented Norman Sisisky with the help of Marian Thurner. Bob Daniel was represented by Danette Spaugh, who had a personal interview with him three days before the election. Daniel won at CHS but was upset by Sisisky in the city election.

Candidates for the hotly-contested Senate race were supported by Karen Bromberg and Ginny Ward for Dick Davis and Jerry Butler for Paul Trible. Jerry had a royal entrance to the popular Billy Squire tune, "Everybody Wants You." Authority was conveyed by the bodyguards Shawn Phillips, Tom Wiggins, Marc Kersey, and Mark Marchetti. Churchland resident and former Mayor Dick Davis won at CHS and in Portsmouth, but he lost the statewide election by about four thousand votes.



Vote for my candidate. Pam Williams encourages the student body to vote for her candidate.

"My candidate says . . ." Tom Duckwall tries to interest students in the elections.



My candidate promises. Tony Pritchard supports Flemming Little in the candidate race.

"I promise." Steve Roberts proclaims that Cleaves Manning will do the job.
"Oh beautiful." Sherie Speegle with help of the Villagers sells her candidate.

A little help from friends. Jerry Butler is protected by his agents.
"I want everyone to know." Jerry Butler supports Paul Trible for Senate.

My candidate is good. Chip Olander and Mike York convince the students that Jay Garrett is the best.

Dick Davis. Davis waves "hello" to supporters.

KILL, ATTACK, DESTROY

Buxom cheerleaders vied with baby trumpet players for the crowd's attention at the annual Powder Puff football game between the junior and the senior girls.

The cheerleaders for both sides set the atmosphere of hilarity with their gaudy costumes of ribbons, bows, and quantity of "stuffing." For the juniors Jeff St. George, Bobby Kemp, Ray Kennedy, Brian Williams and a host of other hairy-legged beauties cheered on their team, which was captained by Beth Resolute and Yvette Hardy.

The vivacious and cuddly Mike York, all in curls, led the senior cheerleaders with the help of Russell Hinton, Eddie Woody, Doug Creecy, Billy Kline, Mark Marchetti, Chris Crawford, Chris Mounie, Jerry Butler, Tim Holland, Ned Deaver, Steve Roberts, and Todd Porter. Styx Baron muscled through the junior line for two touchdowns. Lisa Colasanti scored the first touchdown in the first quarter.

For the juniors a touchdown by Colleen Parker was called back by referees Coach Rhodes and Coach Phelps because she had lost her flag. The final score was a rout by the seniors, 22-0. Lisa Saunders and Ginny Ward, senior captains, expressed pleasure at the victory and groans over the injuries.

The CHS Pep Band outclassed its last year's effort with outfits ranging from Cowboy Bob to monkies to clowns to punks. Tammy Wright wore green army fatigues accented by Dazzle Dust. Suzanne Zawacki looked chic in a garbage bag.

The coaches for the teams, football players such as Tom Wiggins, Carol Young, Billy Damron, Todd Vance, Brian Veal and Chubby Hardy, only had two weeks to whip their teams into shape. The result was an exciting evening of nonsense. The senior and junior classes together grossed almost a thousand dollars, making the Powder Puff game not only fun but profitable.

Let's Go Girls. Carol Young instructs senior players how to handle the football.

What outfits!! The senior guys are executing a variety of unseen cheers.

Victorious! The seniors beat the juniors 22-0.

Go, Go! The senior cheerleaders rallied the girls to a great victory.

Guys in drag. Jerry Butler cheers the girls on with style.

HOLIDAYS AND EXAMS

Santa's elves. These helpers can be seen at Coleman's Nursery.

As the Churchland students witnessed the first snowfall of the school year, they realized that Christmas was just around the corner. The holiday spirit filled the air as winter vacation approached. The month of December was filled with Christmas activities including the Holly Ball, two one act plays, the Christmas basketball Tournaments, the Chorus and Band Concert, the Villager show, and the collection for charities.

The Truckers spent their weekends putting up Christmas trees and buying gifts for their loved ones. Also the Hannukah holiday was in swing and the eight days of feasting were under way.

However, the month was not all fun and games; teachers began piling on the work to make sure chapters were finished before vacation. Students were encouraged to study for exams during vacation, but as Kathy Whitehead noted, "I was too busy just doing the work assigned over the holiday. I had absolutely no time to get an early start on exams."

The thought of a two week break was at the top of everyone's mind. Mark Marchetti could not wait for the holidays so that he could "go see a few late shows with Tom Wiggins, Billy Damron and B-151." Lory Crone, Kristin Swanson, and Kathy Whitehead looked forward to the days off so they could "get some sleep." Trey White prepared himself for "hanging around the mistletoe."

As the New Year's Eve approached everyone was prepared to celebrate. The seniors were filled with excitement as the year they would graduate was just a day away. Parties were attended by all. As the last minutes of 1982 were counted down, everyone yelled, "Happy New Year." And of course, kisses were exchanged to welcome the new year.

The holidays ended and Churchland High was back in action. Basketball games and wrestling matches continued with great attendance. Also, play practice for the January musical, Carnival, was in full swing. For the next few weeks teachers prepared their students for the "dreaded" exams. Luckily seniors with an A average were able to be exempted. Everything that had been learned so far was combined into one long test. The night before each exam was spent cramming. Minds were boggled by all the information.

The Truckers cheered as a day off followed the three days filled with tests. The seniors planned a ski trip to celebrate the end of exams. Churchland High School was back to normal as the new semester began.

Hantzel and Gretel. Exciting displays are a part of Coleman's Winter Wonderland.

Christmas songs. Marc Kersey, Karen Cooper, Karen Bromberg, Maryann West, and Mike Joyner perform at the Villager Christmas show.

Dressed for the Holidays. McDonald's is all set for Christmas.

Young stars. The Elementary perform at the Villager Christmas show.
Reindeer in Portsmouth? These little creatures can be found at Coleman's Nursery.

AFFAIRS OF THE HEART

Love conquered all during the month of February. Cupid's arrow struck many students as they participated in various activities held during the month.

The SCA involved themselves in the crafty game of match-making with their annual computer dating game. Students were given the opportunity to purchase a list of ten names with compatabilies ranging from 1 to 100. "Although some students didn't agree with their list, it was a fun chance to meet other students," commented Kristin Swanson, chairperson of the activity. If the computer did not provide the right match, the Villagers held a Sadie Hawkin's dance in which the girls were allowed to ask out the guy of their dreams out for a special date.

For those students who have already found their "one and only," they could send them a carnation delivered by DECA. The Modern Dance Club also became involved on all the excitement. They sold paper hearts to students to pass on to their favorite teachers and friends. A box of candy was rewarded to Marilyn Johnson and Donna Gillis for receiving the most hearts.

D.E.C.A. carnations. To help rebuild Coleman's Christmas Wonderland, D.E.C.A. students sold carnations with messages for Valentine's Day.

Party man. Steve Kelly, disc jockey for Z104, finds high school dances fun.

Slow dance. "Sad eyes" finds favor among Sadie Hawkins dancers who want to get close.

Dancin'. Couples enjoy the music at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Something special. A student purchases a caligraphy valentine for a friend.

With the beat. Mark Marshal and Dorothy West dance to the "Stray Cat Strut" at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Have a heart. Sterling Weaver finds three hearts are better than one.

Find your perfect match. SCA officers Scott Levin and Kristin Swanson offer computer dating services during lunch.

Eighteen credits were required for graduation, twelve of which had to be from academic classes. The basic curriculum did not change, but some new teachers and class offerings provided variety. Instruction in the use of TRS-DOS computers proved interesting to students in the Data Processing Class. The purchase of the computers also enabled Math Analysis students to write programs for problems in calculus. Hard-working students were honored by election to various honoraries such as the Presidential Classroom, Able and Ambitious and the Marshals. Students were challenged to truck on home with the books to make the "grades."

THE COMPUTER AGE HITS CHURCHLAND

Recognizing the advancements in the area of computer technology, the Portsmouth School System purchased forty Radio Shack TRS-80 III computers last spring for use int he schools beginning in the fall. Churchland High school was zapped into the computer age when four of these computers were installed.

Originally installed for the use of the Business Department, the computers were immediately accepted by all of the departments. The Business Department offered a new course, Data Processing/Business Law. The business law course, which has been taught in previous years, was reduced to half a semester with the other semester taken up by Data Processing. In Data Processing students learn about how to operate a computer and how it functions. Classroom activities range from learning about TRSDOS and BASIC to drawing flow charts for programs on how to make peanut butter and jelly sandwich. When asked why she enrolled in the Data Processing class, senior Martha Sykes answered, "Everything is going to revolve around computers, and I feel that in order to function in the business world of the future I'll need a background in Data Processing." Mrs. Duke immediately recognized the value of the computers and altered the curriculum of her Math Analysis class to include computer programming. Her students created programs for calculating metric conversions, permutations, and combinations. Many of the students in Analysis have planned to pursue careers in computer science. Coach Rhodes has even found a use for the computer. He used it to keep track of baseball statistics. A myriad of uses were found for the computer at Churchland High School.

MULTI-DIMENSIONAL

Drawing, painting, sketching, and sculpting were all integral parts of Mrs. Corean Jones' art classes, but she added a new dimension to art. "I tried hard to gear the activities to such areas that would relate to life situations for the student. They participated fully in making choices and decisions."

The casual artist and the serious artisan received a comprehensive art education during the year. While perfecting their own style, they learned to make mature decisions relating to their work.

Sketching away. Charlie Conklin works with pen and ink.

GRAPHIC ARTS

"Graphic Arts helped to broaden the vocational skills of technically oriented students as well as academically oriented students." This remark by Graphic student Jerry Butler summarized the purpose of the Graphic Arts course. Students participated in photography and printing activities that would help them in their future vocational occupations.

Me first! Some eager students sign up for a project in Family Living.

LIVING

The Family Living course taught by Mrs. Cavender combined the essentials of cooking and sewing with the pleasures of dating and married life. Projects ranged from cooking simple food dishes to arranging a mock wedding ceremony.

Mike York, a Family Living convert, said, "Family Living taught me how to be a priest, thief, family man, good cook, tailor, and accountant. This class just taught me so much, it was great!"

A break. Not all of the class is spent working; these students find time to relax.

An interesting topic. These Family Living students watch a demonstration.

At the keys. Students in Mrs. Pierce's class practice typing business letters.
Hard work. Senior stenography student Martha Sykes concentrates on her typing.

STENO I

Students enrolled in Stenography practiced skills needed for a successful secretarial career. Under the guidance of Mrs. Pierce, the students polished their typing, dictation, and other business techniques. An academic advantage also came from the course / the girls could take notes more quickly than other students.

BAND NOTES

The Churchland High School Band had one of its most exciting years. Mrs. Gugler, the band director, seemed to work miracles with the group in only her second year at Churchland. Drum Major Pam Norris had this to say about her favorite teacher, "Mrs. Gugler is great! She teaches us a whole lot about music theory, but she teaches us even more about being a friend. She's just like a mother. If you need help with something, she's always there. If you get in trouble, you can count on her to bail you out. And if you're depressed or if you just want to talk to her about anything, she always has an open ear and good advice if you want it." It was this admiration and respect for their teacher that gave the band such a successful year.

Many band members participated in regional auditions and in the Able and Ambitious program. The band as a whole participated in several events and marching band competitions including the Virginia Beach Open, The Manteo Seafood Festival, the Indian River Marching Band Competition, the Old Dominion Marching Band Classic, and the Edenton Peanut Festival.

Senior band member Grace Capps looked back on the things she gained from her four years in band, "It has taught me how to work as a small part of a large group, given me experience in leadership, and taught me how to teach others. It has given me experience in public appearances and how to remain calm in all situations. But most of all, it has taught me how to get along with people." All of Grace's hard work payed off. She held the position of first chair clarinet through her last two years of high school.

MELLIFLUOUS TONES

The first concert of the year, The October Song Fest, was a big hit and well received by the student body. It marked the beginning of a very busy and productive year for the Churchland High School Choral Department. The Christmas Concert was an even bigger success. For the second year in a row the Christmas Concert took place in the sanctuary of Centenary United Methodist Church. The chorus along with the band ushered in the season with their own brand of holiday spirit.

After taking a year's reprieve, Mrs. Buckley decided to once again take part in a musical production that combined the talents of her chorus with those of the band and Drama Club. The musical Carnival was a huge success, which received praise from students and teachers alike.

Many chorus students participated in Regional Chorus, All State Chorus, and Honors Choir. Churchland High was well represented in the Able and Ambitious show that took place in March.

The Villagers had an especially busy year trying to raise funds for a show choir festival. They sponsored many money-raising events including a car bash, a hay ride, a spaghetti dinner and Christmas Concert in which the Elementary and Junior High School choruses participated. The Villagers also co-sponsored the Holly Ball with the S.C.A. Senior Karen Bromberg had this to say about the Villagers, "The group is a fun group and everybody gets along with each other. That's how it's different from previous years; we're a lot closer."

LEADERSHIP, LOYALTY, AND RESPECT

The Marine Corps Junior Officer Training Corps was originally established at Churchland High School to provide training for those students interested in careers in the armed service. Now, however, the skills provided by the program such as leadership, communications, and human relations are required by the business and professional world as well as the armed services. ROTC students gain many of these skills necessary for success after high school, but overlooked by the curriculum of many other departments.

The ROTC marched in the Memorial Day Parade in downtown Portsmouth. They also helped the grade schools and junior high with colors. Many ROTC students attended the joint JROTC Military Ball. In the spring the ROTC had an awards ceremony where the graduating seniors were honored and awards were given out for special achievements throughout the year.

Jennifer Harris had this to say about her ROTC class, "In regular classes you learn information about technical areas other than drills and rifle techniques. I like the uniforms too."

NHS Sponsors. Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Dussia discuss plans for the Honor Society.

TOP HONORS

The National Honor Society was considered an "active" organization for the first time in many years. The sponsors of the organization Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Dussia were to be congratulated for this amazing feat. Mrs. Dussia had this to say about the Churchland Chapter of the NHS, "It's really been lagging in the past and we're trying to bring it back to life. We inducted the new members early this year so that they could become more active."

Membership in the Society is based on high marks in the four areas of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. A special tapping ceremony was held in the fall where new members received their membership certificates.

As a service project the Honor Society members offered to tutor any students who needed extra help.

JUNIORS CHOSEN AS MARSHALS

The Marshals are a select group of students from the junior class who have a grade point average over 3.0 and an all-around good charater. Obtaining the honor of being a Marshal also requires teacher recommendations, leadership qualities, and the ability to get along well with other people.

"I really enjoy being a Marshal", commented Melody Pitts. "It's nice to be able to represent my class and have the honor to be recognized as a Marshall."

The Marshals, sponsored by Mr. Gatling, can be found at any drama or choral production ushering and hosting guests and visitors. The Chief Marshal, the Marshal with the most teacher votes, was Robin Yarbrough.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The Spanish Honor Society was strictly an honor group. To qualify for membership a student must have completed three semesters of high school Spanish, must have earned no semester grade in Spanish C or below, and must have earned a semester Spanish grade point average of at least 3.5.

"ACT WELL YOUR PART"

"Act well your part, there all the honor lies." This was the well-known motto of Thespian Troupe #598. The word Thespian is derived from Thespis, the first actor. In 534 B.C. he stepped from the chorus and engaged in a dialogue between the chorus and himself. The term Thespian has been given to actors ever since.

The club was composed of 16 of Churchland's finest performers. Students became Thespians after earning ten Thespian points. One point was awarded for ten hours of work backstage, for the sale of ten tickets, and for participation in any aspect of C.H.S. productions. The title Thespian is a treasured one, and this is doubly so for the Honor Thespian. Thespians who became Honor Thespians had earned sixty points.

Many senior Thespians planned to pursue careers in some area of the performing arts.

CHORAL HONORARIES

The annual auditions for the Virginia Honors Choir were held in the fall in Richmond, Virginia. The auditions were open to all seniors in high schools across the entire state. Churchland High School was lucky enough to have the talent of Stacey Smith. She auditioned for and earned a place in the Virginia Honors Choir.

Mrs. Buckley recognized her most talented chorus students by submitting their names to Who's Who in Music. She picked students who demonstrated ability in Churchland's music activities, diligence and hard work in the production of choral music functions, leadership, and participation in extra-curricular and civic activities.

TIDEWATER CHALLENGE

Seven students participated in the "Tidewater Challenge" this year. There were four students on the panel and three alternates. Mr. Audet, the sponsor of the group, held tryouts in the fall to determine which students had the knowledge and grace under pressure that would make the team a success.

Private and public schools throughout the area competed against each other in a quiz show type format. "The Tidewater Challenge" was aired every Monday night on Channel 15.

Churchland met Northampton in the first round competition. In the tense struggle that followed, CHS finished the first round with 445 points, having lost by only one question.

ABLE & AMBITIOUS

The annual Able & Ambitious show was once again directed by Mr. Bill Griggs. Auditions were held in January for students in grades K-12. This year students were required to sign contracts which stated the times and dates of rehearsals. The show was performed March 25 and 26 to "standing room only" crowds at T.A. Willett auditorium. Performances were free to the public. The theme of this year's show was "Highway America."

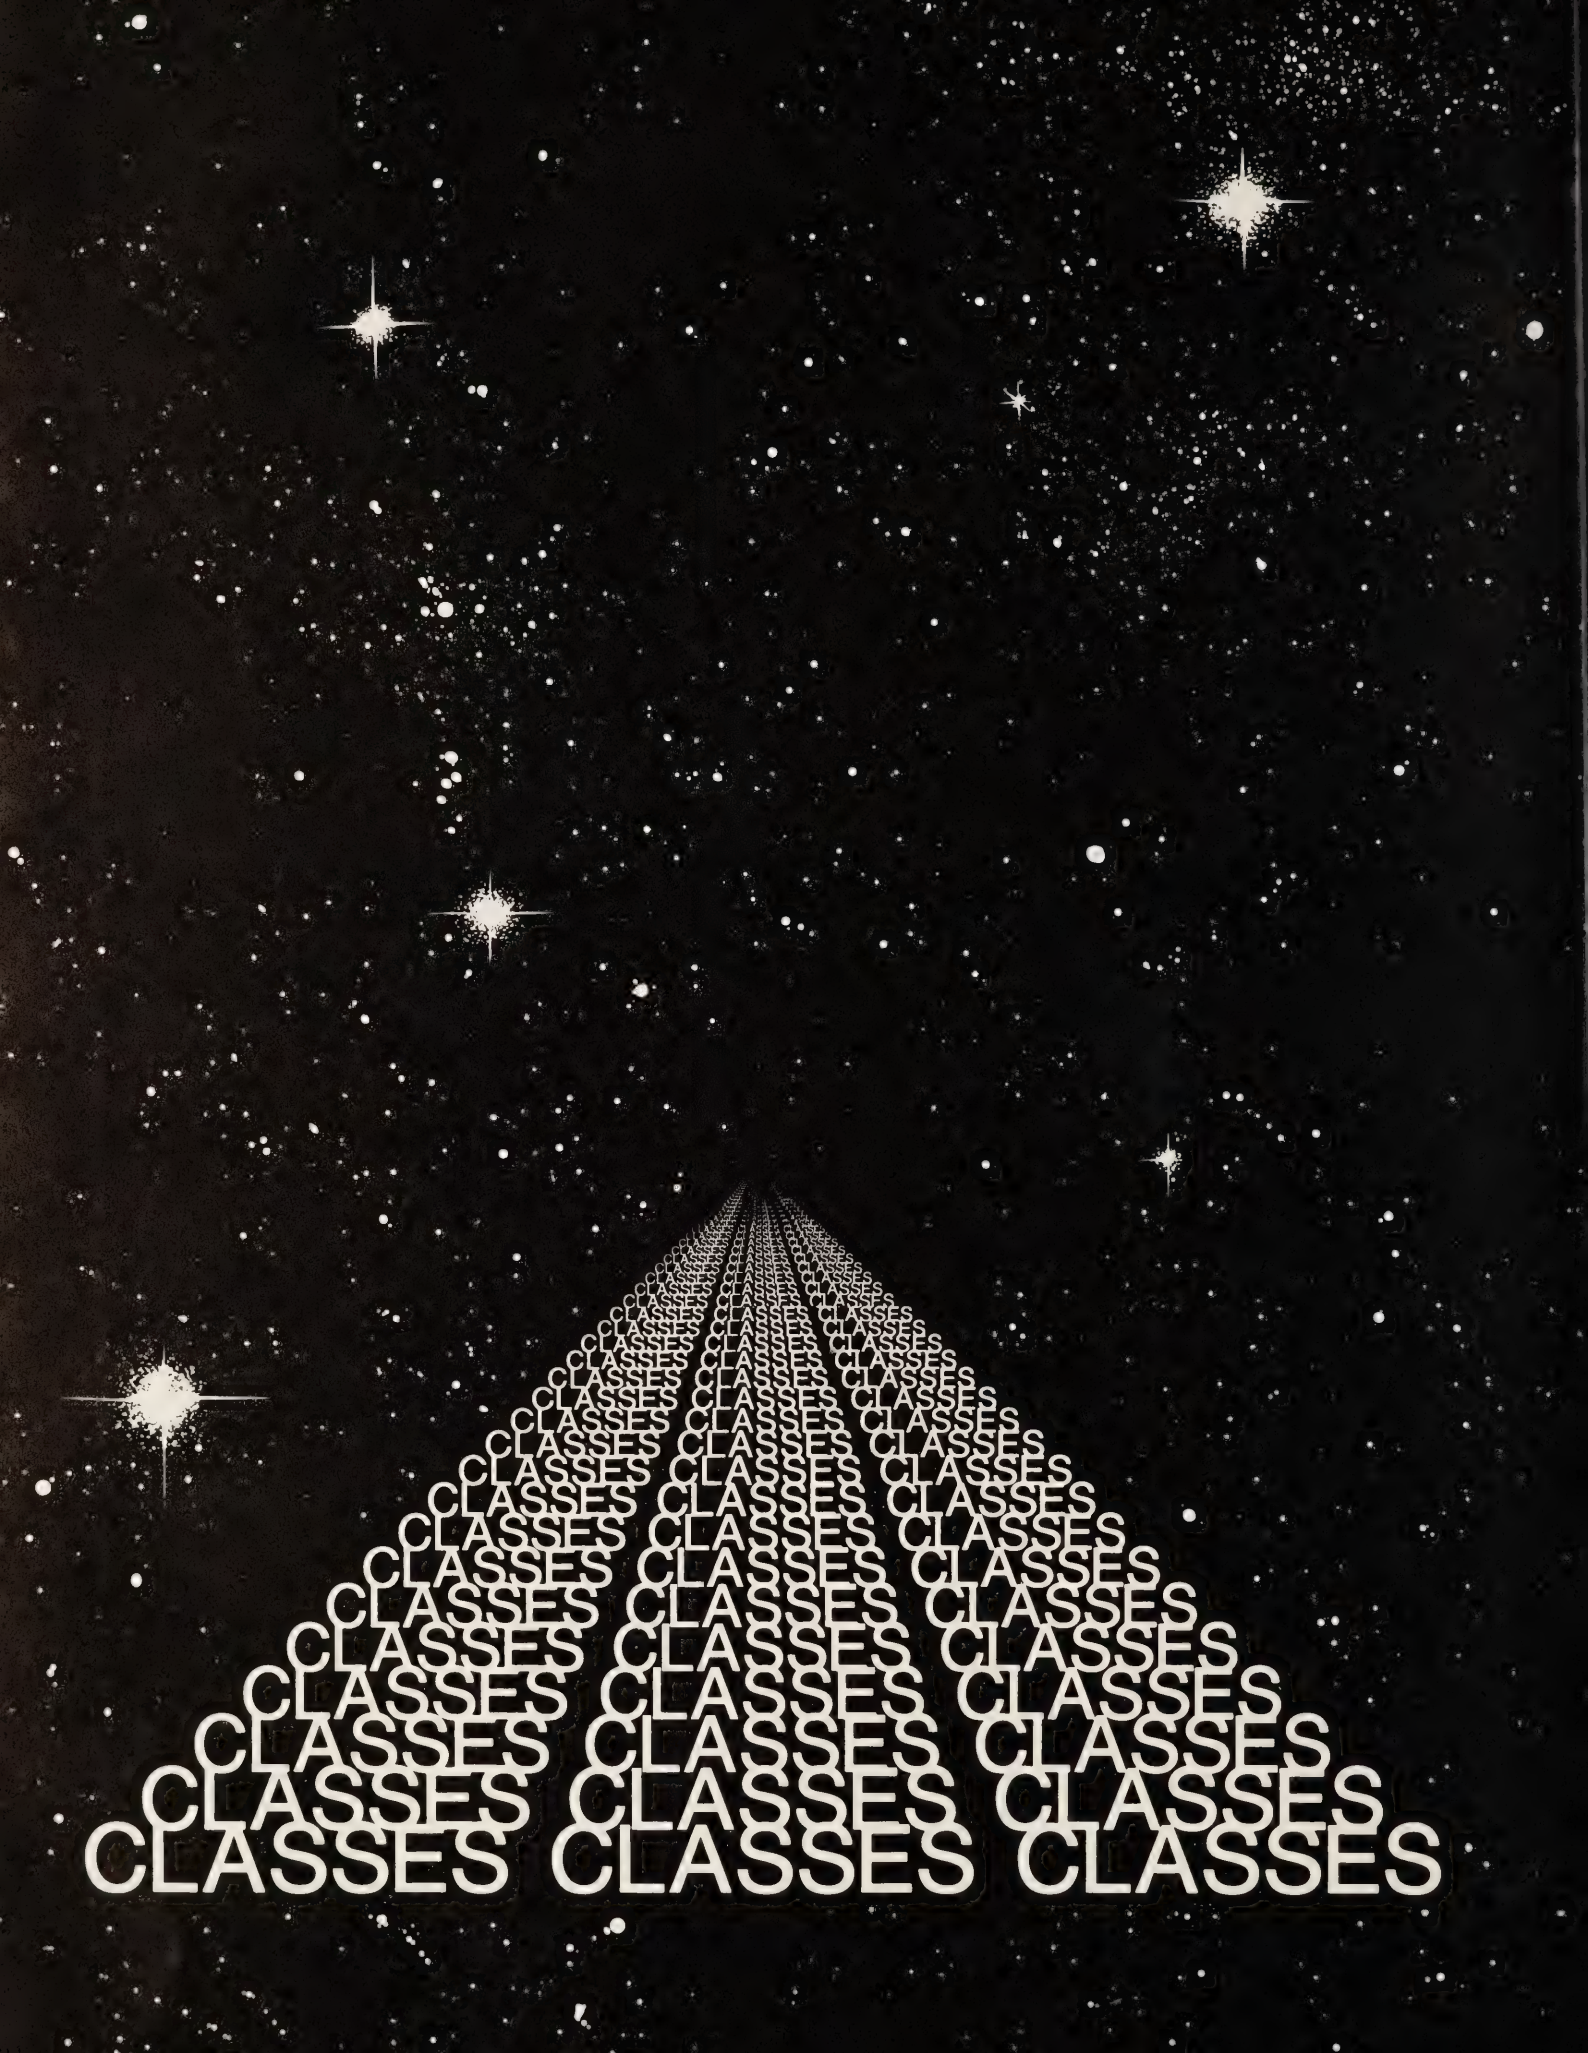
FORENSICS

Mr. Audet and Mrs. King once again coached the Forensics Team through a successful season. Try-outs for the team were held in December so that many hours of practice could be spent preparing for the district meet on February 23.

The areas of competition on this year's team were Boy's and Girl's Poetry, Boy's and Girl's Prose, Boy's Extemporaneous, and Boy's Prepared Oratory. Tommy Duckwall, the team's Boy's Prose reader, tried something new this year; he read an original selection that he had written.



CLASSES CLASSES CLASSES

These pictures, although they seem usual, chronicle Churchland High School 1982-83. Seniors have the top billing dressed in their drapes and tuxes while underclassmen settle for the "all time" mug shot.

The Freshman class arrived with an upswing in enrollment. The halls became even more crowded than usual, and the coolie line almost went out the lunch room door. Sophomores and Juniors worked to build funds for upcoming projects such as the Prom. With the support of the students in all four classes, Churchland kept on truckin'.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The senior class was led by some experienced people. Mark Marchetti was president for a second consecutive year. Mark said, "The class has a lot of money. Despite the prom and all the other expenses of the junior year, we are a rich class." In addition to their money-making abilities, the seniors proved to motivate the Truckers with their overwhelming spirit. As winners of the spirit contest during Homecoming Week, the seniors went all out for CHS. The other senior class officers were Eddie Woody, vice-president; Carol Young, treasurer; and Eydie Wynne, secretary. The class was advised by Mr. Robert Moore.

MEGABUCKS

There seemed to be one word on the minds of all seniors: MONEY. With the need for money they were faced with the task of finding a job.

Seniors Tommy Duckwall, Mike Hudson, and Shawn Phillips worked hard bagging groceries at Food Town. This was a job that would certainly enhance their future lives.

At Hardees, Sherie Speegle, Lori Fulton, Kathy Whitehead, and Suzanne Zawacki worked hard putting plastic tops on Smurf glasses and hot dogs in their bags.

Sonya St. Clair was released early from school to go to her job. She worked at Navalex at Norfolk Naval Shipyard conquering the task of answering phones.

Plaza Theaters, a favorite night spot, became a second home to four of our seniors. Lori Andrews, Michele Palazzo, Chris Crawford, and Mike York learned the art of popping corn and how not to bump into walls in dark theaters.

Kristin Swanson and John Klotz developed their muscles while working at Roses. John developed his arm muscles lifting boxes and Kristin developed her finger muscles while punching cash register keys.

If you've got the "picture" then you realize that Maryann West and Katy Walden worked at Rochefort Photography counting negatives, taking mugshots and helping at weddings as extra flash posts.

Seniors found their niche in the business world.

DIPLOMAS

"I've made it jack — can't take my diploma back." He, like other members of the graduating class of 1983, had reached the pinnacle of his public education and was ready to take the step beyond: to life. What does the world have in store for unexperienced youth. "Not a thing if I'm lucky," said Ed Hohmann, graduating senior.

Most of the graduating class had college plans, but due to high college costs, many were staying in state. Senior Billy Hill said, "I want to attend Memphis State in Tennessee, hopefully on a band scholarship." Many of our seniors were undecided on the issue; they just wanted to get a job and rest from schoolwork for a year.

"Mom! Get me down from here!" Shirley Thompson shows us her daily exercise routine.

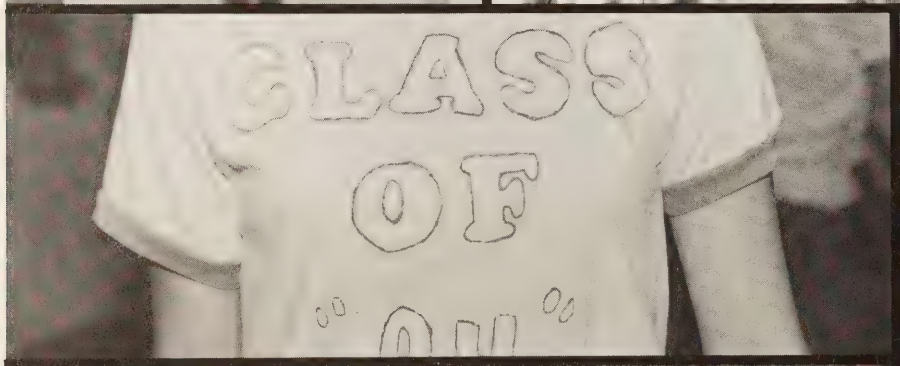
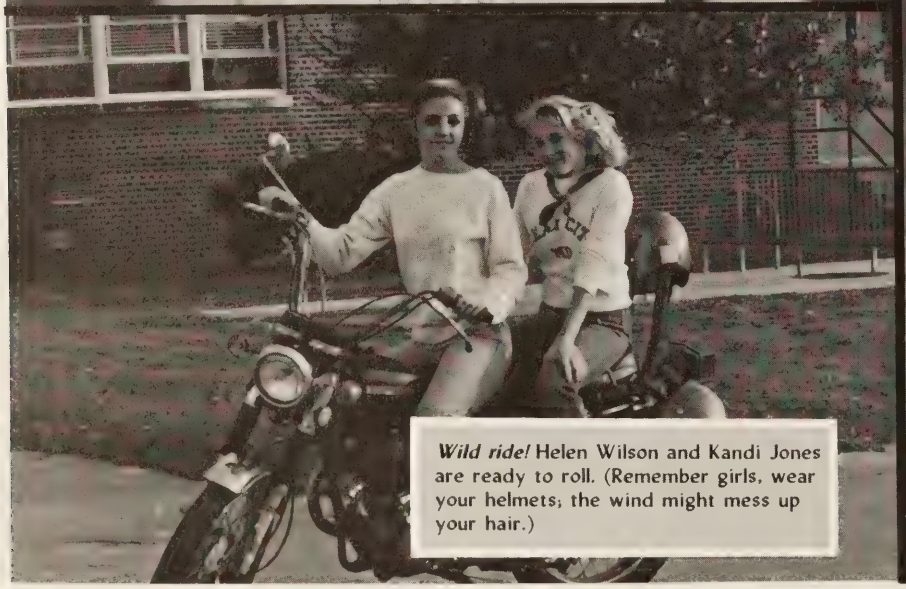
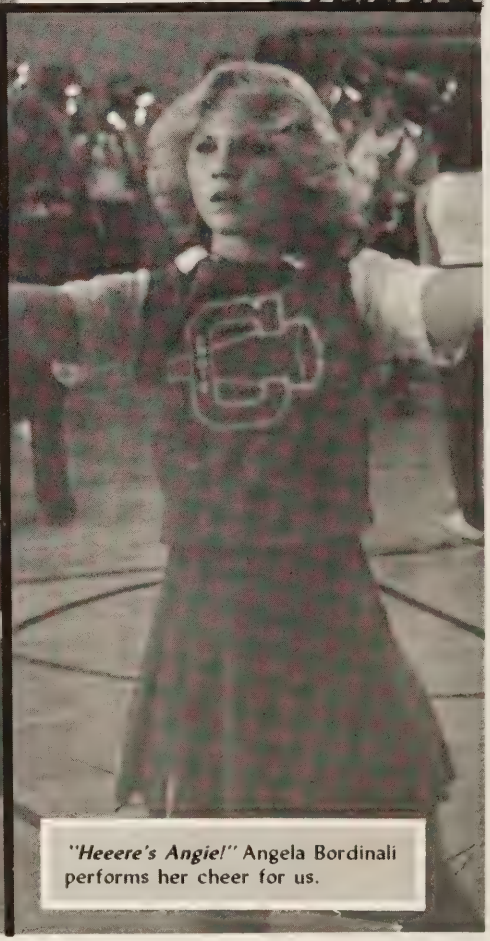
Fight of the classes. Sherry Meads, Colleen Parker, and Katrina Palazzo get the last words in during Spirit Week.





Wild ride! Helen Wilson and Kandi Jones are ready to roll. (Remember girls, wear your helmets; the wind might mess up your hair.)



"Heeere's Angie!" Angela Bordinali performs her cheer for us.

"Ah, come 'on." Lolita Driedric graciously models for her picture.

Concentrate. These juniors show immense concentration toward their studies.

Junior Class Officers

The president of the junior class was Yvette Hardy. Helping her was Robyn Yarbrough, vice-president; Sherry Meads, secretary; Nancy Milby, treasurer.

Again the main worry of the junior class was putting on a good prom. It seemed that the junior class had little to worry about, though, since the biggest problem usually was money. This junior class had plenty of it, because they had had a class sponser since their freshman year and they had had plenty of fund-raising ever since. The Prom was held at the Elks Club. Yvette Hardy said, "Getting enough money for an excellent prom will be no problem." Robyn Yarbrough said, "We have many fund raisers in mind and we are all sure they will be successful."

Leaders of the Class of 1984. Yvette Hardy, President; Robin Yarbrough, vice-president; and Mancy Milby, treasurer, plan money-makers and spirit-raisers. Sherry Meads, secretary, (not pictured) is serving her second year as a class officer.

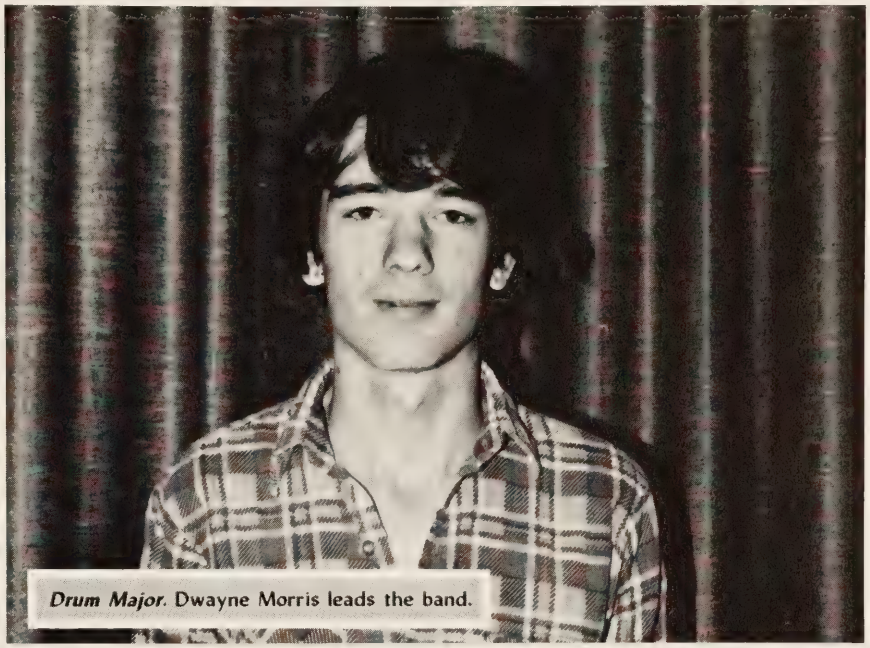
DRUM MAJOR

"Drum Major." To a certain junior these two words meant more than just a definition out of a dictionary. To him they meant "respect, power and the feeling of leadership."

These were the reasons why Dwayne Morris became a drum major. "I wanted to lead the band," said the tall guy. "I've been in band since eighth grade. My brother was the one who got me started. At first I wanted to play the trumpet, but I couldn't get the hang of it," laughs the spirited junior, "so I changed over to the baritone."



Drum Major. Dwayne Morris leads the band.

HOBBY: ART

"I got started in painting after watching a television program on channel 15. The program was by William Alexander, and was called 'The Magic of Oil Painting,'" explained Steve Buchanan. A junior at Churchland, Steve enjoyed oil painting and sketching. He mainly painted landscapes and seascapes, and used a pallette knife instead of a brush. Although Steve showed great talent in his work, he preferred that painting remain only a hobby. He worked on paintings at home as a diversion, and worked on sets for the Drama Club during his freshman year.

Picasso or Rembrandht? No, it is Steve Buchanan, one of Churchland's many talented artists.

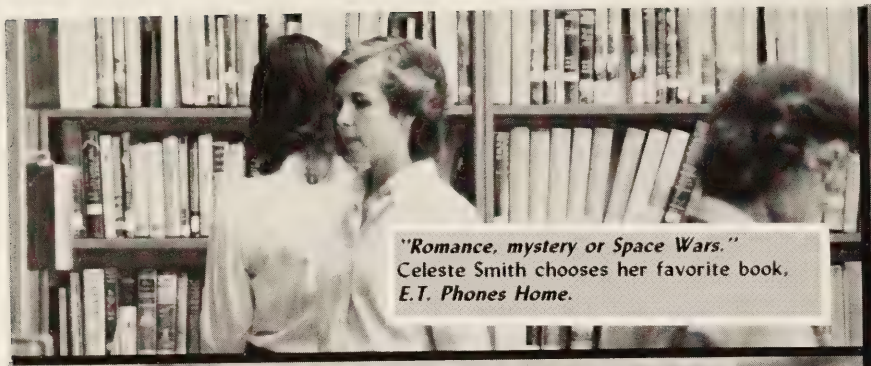
SOPHOMORES



"Romance, mystery or Space Wars." Celeste Smith chooses her favorite book, E.T. Phones Home.

"That's not funny, guys!" Veanettea Butler pauses from her work to honor us with her picture.

Yes, that's Paige Pearce. Paige Pearce is caught loitering in the halls.

"Hey man what is this thing?" Keith Reynolds show us how he puts together his clarinette.

Gotcha. Tina Strickland caught by the camera's eye.

Straining. This sophomore is obviously contained in deep thought.

What a face! Hunter Whitesell carefully poses for a picture while showing the true meaning of a model.

CLASS OF 85

The students who were the sophomore class officers, were asked two questions. Why did they run for their position and how did they intend to help their class?

Sophomore President Love Facenda answered these two questions by replying that she felt that the sophomore class didn't raise money their freshman year. She hoped to get more class spirit out of the class, and to succeed in their money raising projects, selling T-shirts by Kesslers and selling candy.

Vice-President Jackie Sher said that in her freshman year she helped out a lot but wasn't an officer, so by being vice-president she intended on doing more. She has also wanted to see her fellow class members raise money for their Junior Prom.

Treasurer Ann Wong stated that she ran for her position to hopefully make money for the Junior Prom and other extra activities.

Secretary Carla Perry said she ran for her position to hopefully get things done right. She also said she had great ideas on making money such as sponsoring dances and maybe using some of the proceeds to go on a ski trip.

Class leaders. Treasurer Anne Wong, president Love Facenda, vice president Jackie Sher, and secretary Carla Perry headed their class.

A VILLAGER

"It's a lot of fun and hard work but it's worth it" was Amee Baker's response when asked how she liked being in the Villagers. This bright, blue-eyed brunette was the only sophomore selected to be in the Villagers. Amee loved singing and dancing and had taken dance for eight years. She had been in the Able and Ambitious shows for two years in a row and was in regional chorus last year. When asked if she ever got nervous on stage she replied, "Oh yes, but my nervous energy only gets me psyched for my performance."

Amee wanted to be an entertainer and planned to go to college and major in theatre management to fall back on. However, she had no particular college in mind.

"Anything to get those high notes out." Amee Baker is the only sophomore Villager in the 1982-83 school year. Her background includes modeling and community theater performances which she has found a help in developing the self-confidence needed to be a Villager.

THE LICENSE

The Driver's License: it was as much a part of high school as the class rings and the prom. However, as years went by it seemed to be tougher and tougher to get. Of course, the test at the Division of Motor Vehicles was the same. It was still very easy to pass. The problem was that one had to have a book course in driver education and a driving range course in order to even take the test.

Churchland offered the book course. They used to offer the range course, too, before the budget was cut.

There was a way to get private lessons. These were very convenient. The teacher came to the student's house and picked him up; they went out and drove. However, it cost anywhere from ninety dollars up. This was the fastest method to obtain a license.

Football Managers. Kathy Pfeiffer and Stephanie Bradshaw held the position for the season.

Female Football Managers

Did you think all there was to managing a football team was checking uniforms, tying shoelaces, and knowing the players names and numbers?

Stephanie Bradshaw, Manager of the Junior Varsity team said, "It was a lot of fun, but hard work. I did have the benefit of getting to know the coaches and meeting new people. I think the best part was being around the guys! Also, I can't forget, I have learned a lot about football."

Kathy Pfieffer, Manager of the Varsity team, started when Stephanie needed help. Kathy liked being manager, but she said, "It was so much work. You didn't get home till late and trying to do homework was hard." Kathy was in accelerated classes, so she had her work cut out for her. Kathy liked "going to all the games, and being around the players."

Sing! Julie Kovalcik and Susan Duke are caught in the act of a horrible crime, reading during chorus class!

Freshman speaks. "You're wrong, my answer is correct," says this intelligant freshman.

ELECTED OFFICERS OF THE FRESHMEN CLASS

The president of the freshman class was Lee Cobb. He said he ran for the office because "I like to see what's going on in school and I enjoy being in a lot of activities." Lee wants to help his class be "the best class of CHS."

Sterling Weaver was the vice-president of the freshman class this year. He said that most of his friends encouraged him to run for the office and that he ran because he felt he "could do the job." Sterling felt his class had a great advantage over the other classes because they had "so much spirit."

The position of freshman class secretary was filled by Kim Phelps. Kim ran for her office because she knew she "could do a good job." Kim wanted to help the freshman class raise money for their Junior-Senior Prom. She also commented that another goal was to make their freshman year a memorable one.

Amy Little was the freshman class treasurer. She ran because she "likes working with money" and she thought "it would be fun." Amy was encouraged to run by her family, especially her sister.

NEW FACE ON STAGE

There was a new actress at Churchland High school and her name was Jill Steinberg. She had been acting since she was in kindergarten. She started acting after she saw her dad performing in musicals and in opera. Jill said, "My father influenced me by giving me the incentive to try harder."

Jill planned to attend a performing arts college to further her education in acting and music. She had already performed in plays at Old Dominion University, Tidewater Community College, and the Portsmouth Little Theater. Jill was also on a television program called "Young Edition" on channel 13. At Churchland High School she performed in the plays "Prometheus" and The Miracle Worker. Jill said, "I like acting a lot and I try to do what is expected of me."

"And here's Jill!" Jill Steinberg, freshman actress, graces Churchland's stage.

MY PARENT, THE TEACHER

If you ever wanted to know what it's like to have a parent working at your school, just ask one of your C.H.S. friends. Senior Chris Mounie, sophomore Tina Strickland, and freshmen Susan Duke and Trey Rhodes all had parents working as teachers or administraters.

All of these students enjoyed having their parents at school. Tina Strickland said, "I talk to my dad at lunch more than my friends." In fact, these students may have had an advantage over the average students because their parents were able to help them with school work more efficiently.

Susan Duke, whose mother was Head of the Math Department, liked having her mom at school, "because she helped me with my homework, especially math." Susan, Trey, Chris and Tina all felt sharing the school experience with a parent was a success.

Parents at school. Tina Strickland, Trey Rhodes, and Susan Duke, all found that having their parents at school with them was no problem. "I talk to my dad at lunch more than my friends," commented Tina Strickland. Chris Mounie's father was Assistant Principal at Churchland High School for the 1982-83 school year.

BEHIND THE BATON

Bonnie Armentrout was not your average majorette. She had been taking baton lessons since she was seven years old. Her instructor was Shelvy Manning of Hampton, Virginia. Bonnie was a member of Shelvy's Majorettes, who were the 1982 National Dance Twirl Champions.

Bonnie herself had also earned some awards on her own. She won a total of one hundred eighty-six trophies and nineteen second through fifth place World Championship medals. She was the 1981 Miss Majorette of Virginia and fifth place Miss Majorette of America, a competition held at Notre Dame University. She was also the 1981 Miss Waters of Waters Junior High School.

Bonnie enjoyed twirling as entertainment for fund-raising events, business meetings, and for the Churchland High School Band. She felt there were many advantages to being a majorette. "You get to travel a lot," she said. "I've traveled to Hawaii, Notre Dame University, the 1982 World's Fair, Florida, Pennsylvania, and Maryland."

ORGANIZATIONS ORGANIZATIONS

The Dismal Swamp Preview, Make-up Tips, and a very popular attraction, Bingo, were among the twelve new activities, that together with the traditional clubs, vied for students' interest during the forty-five minute activity period.

Many exciting events were on stage in music and drama for fast-paced Truckers to become involved in or slow down and see. The musical "Carnival" reunited the trio of band, chorus and drama.

The marching orange and black Truckers competed in local and out-of-state band competitions, often placing in the top three.

Senior girls were selected for the Pierette Club. Etiquette was observed and petit fours were served.

Time during and after school for activities made it possible for all students to participate and explore new areas of interest. New friends and new abilities were discovered to keep minds and bodies truckin'.

A TOUCH OF COLOR

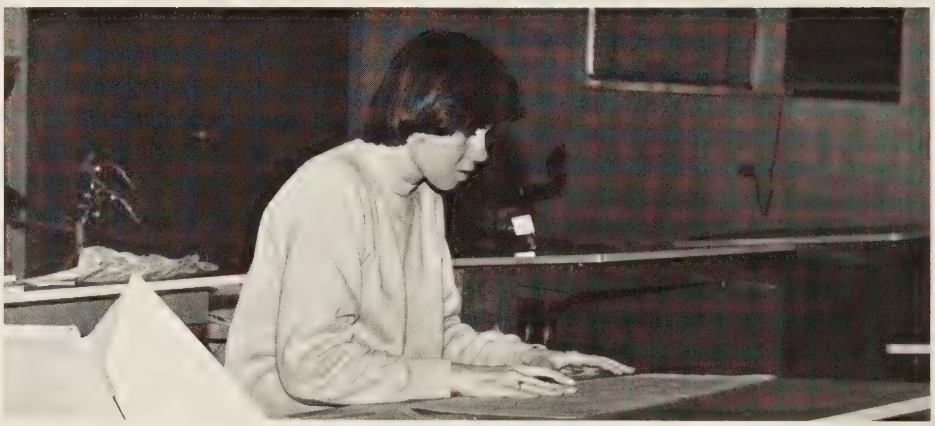
Deadlines, deadlines those dreaded deadlines. The Annual Staff was kept on their toes this year by those cut-off dates. There was no time to breathe until the yearbook was completed. The motivating force behind this dedicated group of students was Mrs. Debbie Scott. She found time in her busy schedule to devote to the annual. Maryann West, the Editor-in-Chief, spent all her free time planning lay-outs and doing other tasks which were involved. "The annual was much harder than I expected," commented Maryann West. This year's staff began working in the summer to make the book a success. Kristin Swanson, the Copy Editor, attended a Journalism workshop in Williamsburg in order to learn new ideas for writing copy. One of the main goals of this year's staff was to have a splash of color in the book. After selling two thousand dollars worth of ads, the yearbook staff was able to set aside two full color pages with great shots taken by Jerry Butler, Head-Photographer. Another motivation was the spring supplement, which included spring sports, the prom, and graduation. "Since it is my senior year, I want to go out in style," commented Maryann. But no one person can receive full-credit for the annual. The Journalism Class contributed articles, Major Carl Kusky aided the Business Management of the book, and Mr. Jim Doyle assisted with the photography. The group worked long, hard hours combining their talents to produce an enjoyable yearbook on time.



Working til dawn. Maryann West continues to complete the annual.

What a job! Melody Pitts works diligently on the Index.

PAINT PICTURES

The Art Club kept busy during the year decorating the library and keeping the lunchroom painted with appetizing scenes. Under the direction of Mrs. Corean Jones, art instructor, students engaged in creative activities throughout the year. The major projects were making Christmas cards and penants that could be sold to benefit the Ronald McDonald House. Activities that the students enjoyed were a fun trip to Busch Gardens and an educational expedition to Washington, D.C. Mrs. Jones expressed, "To me the creative mind is the foundation for a successful America."

INSIDE SWITCH

The purpose of the American Field Service Club was to exchange a foreign student for a year or just a few months, but this year, unfortunately, no foreign guest was hosted. Mrs. Chapman, the club sponsor, expressed her disappointment in not having an exchange student, "It's really a shame we missed the excitement of learning the customs of other lands. Instead we'll exchange out-of-state students for a week or so." The main activities were a submarine sale and door-to-door solicitation. The President of the AFS club was Valja Teemant, the Vice-President was Katy Palazzo, and the Secretary and Treasurer was Kelly Campbell.

FATAL DOUBLES AND STONES

The Backgammon Club met in Mr. Yancey's class during Activity Period B. Many members of the club knew how to play the game and participated in the activity to hone their skills against good competition. Those who didn't know how to play, including sponsors Mr. Gusky and Mr. Yancey, were taught by the more experienced players.

Bruce Riddle commented "I wanted to learn how to play to beat my know-it-all friend." Bruce Busila said, "I wanted some good competition."

"Winning Grin." Senior Tommy Duckwall takes pleasure in beating Freshman David Rotundo.

MAKING IT YOURSELF

The FHA was not just concerned with cooking and serving. This year the club took on the theme of careers. A representative from the Barbizon Modeling Agency spoke during activity period on careers in modeling. Meetings were also spent discussing goals in life, raising children and keeping budgets. The organization took up collections for the Joy Fund and also held a Christmas party during activity period. Mrs. Cydney Cavender felt that the "FHA provided good opportunities for all students to develop in personal, family and school life." Sonya St. Claire, an active member of the club, thinks that "FHA is beneficial to girls and boys alike."

OLDIES BUT GOODIES

Among the various musical groups at CHS, the Jazz Band, better known as the Stage Band, performed jazz revues from the forties, bringing back music of groups which were alive and well during the Jazz Age. Tammy Wright, a member of the famed Jazz Band said, "Performing on stage gives members of the band a chance to show the audience they know how to play more than the National Anthem."

WRITE IT

The Creative Writing Club was comprised of students who took their writing seriously. These students, led by Mrs. King and Mrs. Scott, gained polish in their creative skills and techniques. In each meeting students read their writing and asked the group for their opinions. Then members did free writing and descriptive writing exercises Mrs. Scott said, "Because of a lack of enrollment in a Creative Writing class, a club was formed to give students an audience for their work."

MONEY MAKERS

DECA was an extremely successful organization, led by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Jones, that taught students responsibility and leadership. They showed off these abilities at the District Leadership Conference in February and the State Leadership Conference in April.

President Anita Taliaferro and Vice President Rayburn Kennedy supervised a profitable sale of candy for a fundraising project. They brought in six thousand dollars and cleared three thousand dollars for the club. Treasurer Darren Laxton said, "I have never seen so much money collected by one club." DECA made generous contributions to the Joy Fund and fixed Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for the needy.

DECA was not all work. The group ate over two hundred dollars worth of pizza at Milton's before Christmas break. Todd Wiggins, Reporter and Carolyn Wise, Historian, can still picture twisted faces expressing severe stomach aches.

SPIRITED BUNCH

The Mother Truckers, led by Shawn Phillips and combined with the Lady Mother Truckers, organized by Michelle Amory, sponsored most of the weekend social events for the juniors, seniors, and Churchland alumni. They held their gatherings at members homes and social halls when the money was available. Each club member had to pay dues so refreshments could be bought for these events.

"We hope the tradition will be carried on by the rising juniors and seniors. The Mother Truckers and new Lady Mother Truckers have always been noted for having fun," commented Michelle Amory.

The S.C.A. met the second Wednesday of every month during Activity Period A. Headed by Major Carl Kusky, the sponsor, and Todd Porter, the president, the S.C.A. enjoyed an active year. Todd said, "I think that overall the S.C.A. was successful this year." The only disappointment was the Holly Ball.

In early spring the S.C.A. sponsored the "Battle of the Bands" when local bands competed and a famous band was also featured. They also held a statewide S.C.A. convention here when students from other states all over the country came and the S.C.A. greeted, registered, and found housing for them. They were also involved in another fun activity: the computer dating service. Students found their most compatible matches within the high school. Other officers of the S.C.A. were: vice president — Katy Walden, secretary — Kristin Swanson, and treasurer — Kim Little.

YOUR MOVE

The intellectual game of chess was enjoyed by many students during the school day. The Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Bryant, met during Activity Period B. Most of the members were advanced players. Two to three games were usually played during the period. Tim Carter commented, "It gives you a challenge for the day as well as a high state of well-being." Plans were made for competing with other students from different schools.

OFFICE WORKERS

"Business as usual" for some of the girls at CHS. The members of COE were involved in on-the-job training during the school year. The jobs were in the areas of secretarial and bookkeeping. These girls got out of school early in order to arrive to work at a suitable hour. In order to be a member of this club students must have completed the stenography class offered by the business department. Martha Sykes acted as an aide in the main office from 1:05 until 3:00. During this time she typed, filed, and ran errands. Wendy Thomasson worked at Slaydon's Travel Service. She served as a secretary for the company.

BUILD AMERICA

The Churchland High School Industrial Arts Club was again headed by Mr. Doyle. The club was associated with all of the Industrial Arts classes which included Graphic Arts, Mechanical Drawing, and Woodworking. The officers were President Jerry Butler; Vice-President, David Howell; Treasurer, Neil Poissant; Secretary, Lolita Dreidric; and Sergeant at Arms, Rodney Riddle. Members performed various services for the community, including a Pet Food Drive for the Portsmouth Humane Society and printing for the Portsmouth Redevelopment and Housing Authority.

SLIDES OF SITES

Appreciation of French culture and camaraderie among friends were two goals which French club members fulfilled. The French Club met during activity B in Mr. Gatling's room. During the meetings the students were introduced to the French society and traditions. Melody Pitts "liked watching slides of France and its geography." Sandy Murray, the club president, "had a really good time this year while planning a Christmas party and a spring banquet." At the Christmas party the club members played French games and sang French Christmas carols. Sandy commented "although our parents don't always realize it, we do get a little bit of culture in school."

HELPING OUT

Taking messages, running errands and making mimeograph copies are all daily aspects of the dedicated office aides. The general office; guidance office and Mrs. Taliaferro's office all were blessed with these helpful students. Their free period of the day was spent at their assigned office. Jackie White, Mrs. Taliaferro's helper replies, "It's better than study hall." Lisa Saunders, who works in the guidance office, thinks "It's great to have a closer relationship with the guidance counselors and to repay them for all the help they have given me."

BUSINESS BUFFS

The Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by the Business Department, was led by president Wendy Beazley, vice president Laura Miniard, secretary Cindy Stevens, treasurer Melinda Downey and Reporter Sherry Rogers.

This organization provided expanded opportunities in developing skills in business by offering two scholarships for business students.

FBLA members participated in state and national competitions and attended workshops at James Madison University. One of the members lauded the group's "several activities such as the National Ask Campaign, a Christmas breakfast, a Thanksgiving basket for the needy, and Christmas gifts for nursing home residents."

GIVE A YELL

The Spirit Club enjoyed a very productive year. Headed by Mrs. Lassiter, the Spirit Club participated in many activities and was helpful in cheering on the Truckers. They attended every basketball game and other school activities. All the girls received new "spirit" shirts and learned new cheers to support the Truckers. In February they sponsored a dance and in December they had a Christmas party. The President of this group of girls was Vera Lee, supported by the Vice-President, Sheila Williams, and Secretary, Sonja Brown. Mrs. Lassiter commented positively on the group: "At this point we don't even need any funds; we're doing very well."

We've got spirit. Cherri Porter, Ellen Merritt, and Danette Daniels leave the meeting with a smile.

AMONG THE BOOKS

The library was a very important part of school for both students and faculty. It was a source of movies, slides and other audio-visual aids for the faculty and a repository of books for reports, and magazines for enjoyment and articles for term papers.

A valuable asset to the library was the library aides. They were the students who volunteered a period out of their day to help Mrs. Wilks and Mrs. Hawks, the librarians. These aides, Margaret Critzer, Robin Frederick, Ray Teemont, and Rodney Riddle, did anything the libraries told them to do. They replaced books on the shelves. They also worked the desk and checked out books for students.

Library Aides: Marguerite Critzer, Rae Teemont, Robin Frederick.

THE GROUP'S GOT RHYTHM

The Modern Dance Club was known for combining rhythm and motion to music. For the second year in a row, male students were included as members of the group. Mrs. Goodman sponsored this group of fine dancers. The club performed for the student body at their annual spring assembly.

IN FRONT OF THE FOOTLIGHTS

The word dedication best describes this year's Drama Club. The actors and actresses spend two to three hours a day rehearsing for the upcoming plays. Mrs. Debbie Scott, the inspiration for the group, guided the students into using their acting abilities to their fullest potential. There first production, "Where have All the Lightning Bugs Gone," starred veteran actors Dorothy West and Mark Lauer. This one act was presented to the Virginia Theater Conference in Richmond, Virginia. The Miracle Worker, written by William Gibson, was their next fall production. Sherie Speegle, Bob Webb, Jill Steinberg, Mark Lauer, Jenni Steinberg and Beth Williams all earned starring roles in this production.

The annual musical, "Carnival" was presented with the help of a graduate of CHS, Jeff Joyner. With Jeff's musical and acting ability to guide the students, the play turned out to be a success.

The month of March was filled with rehearsals for the Virginia High School League Competition and a night of one-act plays. Paige Pearce, the secretary of the club, liked acting because "It makes you feel like you're important when the audience claps after a performance."

TRI-HI-Y'S

Among many after school organizations, one of the most active was Webb Tri-Hi-Y. Webb was an out-of-school refuge for teenage girls in grades 9-12. To enter Webb you had to be interviewed by the club members and then face initiation. An activity performed by the Sisters of Webb was secret pal, which allowed every girl to choose a name and anonymously give that person a gift on holidays. Tracy Wright, a newcomer to CHS said, "Webb made meeting people easier for me, especially since I came from Western Branch!" The President, Valerie Davis and the Vice-President, Tami Jones, sought to become more active in school activities.

Webb's sister Tri-Hi-Y was Cem Tri-Hi-Y. New members were selected in the fall by a vote of the old members. A favorite club activity, the choosing of sweethearts, was conducted during the early months of the school year.

PIÑATAS/PLAYS

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Iris Cooper, was led by Sherry Rogers, who presided over the 1982-83 Spanish Club. The Spanish Club is still devoted to increasing a better understanding of Spanish speaking people, their customs, and their countries, but this year they have added on a new project. The club dramatized on video tape the Spanish speaking people in their text books. These video tapes were shown to the Spanish classes so that the students heard proper pronunciations and increased their understanding of the language when it was spoken.

In March the Spanish Club observed Spanish Week. This event contained a Spanish food contest, a pinata contest, songs, and Spanish poetry readings. Many students anticipated this week through the whole year, because of its fun and to show off their original Spanish creations prepared for their various contests.

SPELLERS EXCEL

Mr. Paige and Mrs. Poole enthusiastically sponsored the Spelling Bee Club. In order to compete in the District Spelling Competition, a student had to be a junior or a senior. Mr. Paige and Mrs. Poole formed a club that freshmen and sophomores could compete in. The club gave younger students the opportunity to excel and capitalize on their interest. Mr. Paige commented, "We wanted to improve their spelling skills." Mr. Paige's concept was to review the basic rules of spelling, and then to take a specific rule and study words that were an example of that rule. They then used those words for different games and activities. Strangely enough, all of the Spelling Bee members were boys. Mr. Paige said there was not as much involvement as they wanted and he would push for a larger membership.

RAISING MONEY

The Science Club, sponsored by Miss Goode, raised a lot of money through various fund raisers. The club's president was Bryan Hawks and the vice president was Tony Williams. They organized the collecting of aluminum cans, which science students brought in each six weeks at the rate of fifty cans at a time to get some extra points averaged into their grade. The cans were then turned over to the Reynolds Aluminum Company to be recycled, and the science club earned a certain amount of money per pound of cans. The club also sponsored a dance, and sold candy and coupon books. The club raised this money to replace or purchase science equipment for labs and projects. One student said, "The Science Club is a really exciting organization."

GOODWILL GIRLS

The Pierette club did a number of community service activities. In December they raised a considerable amount of donations for the Joy Fund, and afterwards had a Christmas party. They were involved in giving to charities and making baskets for the underprivileged and senior citizens. At Easter they gave to the Easter Seals foundations.

The girls dressed up in their "Sunday best" at the first of each month, giving cupcakes they had baked to the entire faculty, in the hopes of keeping good relations between students and faculty.

Pierette club members were senior girls. Outgoing seniors choose upcoming seniors in the spring. To be chosen, juniors must have qualities such as sophistication, reliability, ettiquette, and such interests as self-improvement. In the fall the new members pick sweethearts.

"TRUCKER TOPICS"

For the sixth consecutive year, Mrs. Claudia Hawks has sponsored the Trucker Topics, the school newspaper. She worked with four accomplished senior editors, Katy Walden at the helm as Editor-in-Chief, Angela Stegall, lay-out editor, Franco Hardy, managing editor, and copy editor, Todd Porter.

"I was quite pleased with the job my editors did this year, they accepted the responsibility it took to print a school newspaper. However, all credit can not go to the editors. The staff should also be commended. They painstakingly strove to provide quality news service that revealed every aspect of school life," commented Mrs. Hawks.

Rising costs for printing and the lack of quality printing led the staff to have this year's paper printed by Mr. Doyle in graphic arts. This lowered the printing cost and saved money. "Instead of going in the red, we actually made a profit and we are able to sponsor a few fun activities," added Franco Hardy.

"But what we made this year," said Editor-in-Chief, Katy Walden, "were deadlines! We made all our necessary deadlines." Also Katy added, "Our journalistic skills have really improved since last year. We concentrated primarily on style this year, but I must admit that the paper came out pretty well. However, our newspaper did lack the professionalism we strove for. All in all we had a successful year."

ATHLETICS ATHLETICS

Pumping iron, practicing serves, and learning lay-ups kept the Churchland teams truckin'. The dedicated athletes worked from sunup until sundown keeping their bodies in shape.

Trucker students Billy Kline and Danny Llewellyn led the varsity football team to outstanding victories, including a homecoming triumph over Manor. The dynamic duo of Marian and Irene Thurnher kept the serves flying, while on the other end of the spectrum, Shawn Phillips and Bobby Wynn pinned their way to the top. In the field of sports the CHS teams were headed in the right direction.

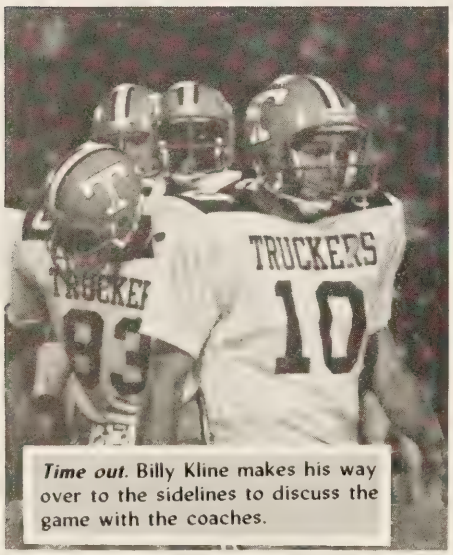
TRUCKERS REBUILD

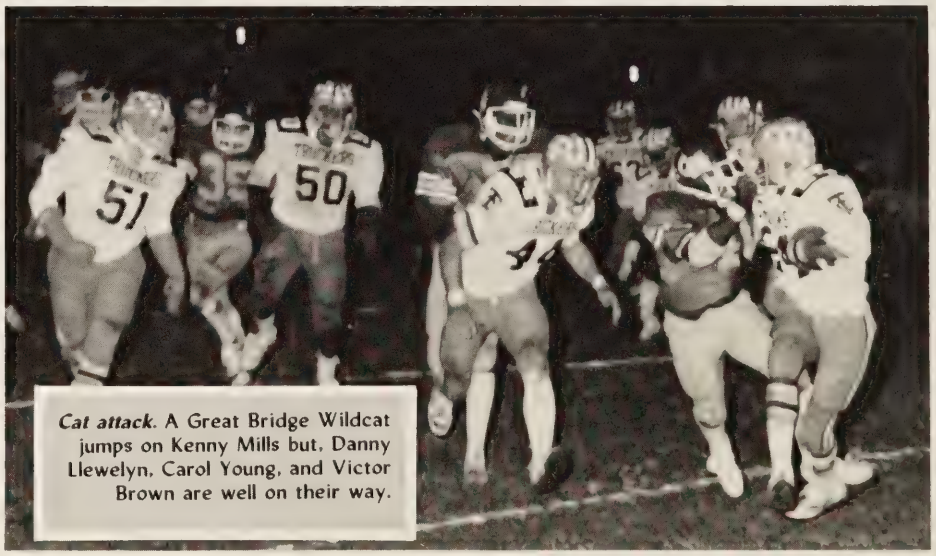
The 1982-83 Varsity Football Team trucked on to a satisfactory record of four wins and six loses despite an almost totally rebuilt roster. The Truckers lost nineteen Seniors from the 1981-82 football team and only had three or four starters from that team. "Mistakes caused by inexperience and lack of strong player leadership hurt the team greatly," commented Head Coach Bill Strickland. "Lack of size and speed also hindered us." The Truckers were predicted to finish with about an even record. The coaching staff was not disappointed with the team's performance although Coach Carl Rhodes felt that it could have been better. Coach Strickland complimented the team on their hard work. "They did the best they could with what they had."

The 1982-83 football season started off slowly for the Truckers with a 20-14 opening loss to the Tigers of Oscar Smith High School. This was an especially disappointing loss because Churchland was predicted to win and was winning into the second half when Oscar Smith scored to win the game. The game later turned in our favor when it was learned that Oscar Smith had played with an ineligible player, causing them to forfeit the game to the Truckers. Billy Kline established himself as an excellent passer with eight completions for one hundred twenty yards and one touchdown; likewise, Brian Veal proved to be a good receiver with four receptions for one touchdown and fifty-four yards. Churchland scored early in the Wilson game with a six-yard touchdown pass from Billy Kline to Kenny Mills. These were the first points scored against Wilson in four years. The Truckers didn't capitalize though, and lost to the Presidents 14-6. The Friendship Bowl was a heartbreaker. Churchland bettered the Western Branch Bruins everywhere but on the scoreboard. The Truckers outgained the Bruins, one hundred eighty-two yards to one hundred eighteen. Six times the Truckers reached the Bruins twenty-five yard line only to be turned back. The final score was Bruins 7, Truckers 6. In all these games the Truckers played well but missed victory by only a few points. Though the Truckers didn't officially lose, their victory against Oscar Smith was dampened a bit by the losses to Wilson and Western Branch.

These losses obviously didn't get the Truckers down though, for they came back to play well in their next four games. The Truckers finally broke their losing streak with a 15-13 victory over undefeated Deep Creek. Churchland was losing 13-8 with seven minutes, eleven seconds left in the game. Billy Kline was standing five yards deep in his end zone with ninety-seven yards to go. From the shotgun, he threw a thirty-four yard pass to Robert Farmer. He then completed five more passes, culminating with a twenty-two yard completion to Kenny Mills for the touchdown and victory. Billy Kline threw for one hundred seventy-five yards in that game. Churchland pleased the Homecoming crowd by routing Manor 12-6. Joey Roberts ran for both touchdowns while the Truckers rushed for over one hundred ten yards. Manor fought hard but the home team edged them out in the end. Churchland waited until the second quarter to dump Cradock 29-6. Coach Strickland cited end Mike Carroll, center Nathon Thomas, and tackle Bobby Wilkins for their play against the Admirals. Undefeated Norcom was predicted to easily defeat 4-2 Churchland but was surprised when the Truckers played perhaps the best game of their season. Ranked second in Tidewater and eventually going undefeated, Norcom surrendered 256 yards to the Trucker offense, more than one hundred yards greater than their per game average. The Truckers reached season-high totals in points and yardage on Norcom. Billy Kline threw three touchdown passes, including a forty-three yard completion to Brian Veal for the first points of the game. The Truckers took a quick and dominating lead but couldn't control the ball the entire game. Norcom won this heartbreaker 27-18.



Time out. Billy Kline makes his way over to the sidelines to discuss the game with the coaches.



Cat attack. A Great Bridge Wildcat jumps on Kenny Mills but, Danny Llewelyn, Carol Young, and Victor Brown are well on their way.

The Truckers slacked off at the end of the season losing their last three games. The Truckers were surprisingly defeated by Indian River, who had been plagued by injuries all season, 42-14. Coach Strickland explained, "Indian River's players all got better by the time they played us." Churchland didn't play as well against Great Bridge as expected and lost to them 17-6. A real shocker was Churchland's 19-14 loss to usually weak Warwick.

Churchland finished the 1982-83 season with four wins and three loses, and though seventh in the district, had two players who stood above most in Tidewater: Billy Kline and Brian Veal. Billy Kline finished the season with one thousand fifty-eight yards and ten touchdowns, tied for second with Matt Hudgins of Kempsville. Brian Veal caught thirty passes for three hundred seventy-nine yards and four touchdowns. He finished second in Tidewater.

Churchland had three players who made the 1982 All Portsmouth and All Southeastern District team. Brian Veal made offensive end, Danny Llewellyn made defensive end, and Andy Grider made offensive tackle. Victor Brown made All Southeastern District Defensive Guard.

Though inexperienced, the Truckers worked hard all season and finished with a respectable record. Coach Strickland was very proud of his 1982-83 team and noted that they worked hard and did their best to overcome their lack of experience.

THE FIFTEENTH YEAR FOR COACH

The 1982-83 football season marked Bill Strickland's fifteenth year as Head Coach of Churchland High school's football team. He began coaching and teaching in 1968 when Portsmouth annexed Churchland. He has coached Varsity football, has been an assistant track coach, and has taught Physical Education, Health, and Driver's Education.

Strickland graduated from Cradock High School in 1959 where he played football, wrestled, and played baseball. He went on to East Carolina University where he graduated in 1963 with a Bachelor of Sciences in Physical Education. There he played fullback and linebacker. He later received his Master of Education degree from the University of Virginia in 1966.

In 1963 Strickland became assistant Coach for Varsity football, wrestling, track, and J.V. baseball at Cradock High School. He moved to Churchland in 1968 when Portsmouth annexed that area and became its new Head Coach.

When Strickland received the job of Head Coach of the Churchland Truckers he had few players because of the Western Branch-Churchland split. Nineteen players were on the 1968 Varsity football team. There also was no weight program when Strickland started coaching at Churchland. Coach Strickland had a hard time developing the Truckers into a good team.

Coach Strickland said that the best teams he ever coached at Churchland were the '75, '76 and '81 teams. The Truckers went 9-1 in 1975 and 1976. They won the district championship in 1975, but lost the regionals to Hampton 14-6. Last year (1981) the Truckers went 7-2-1 and finished second in the district.

Coach Strickland noted that since 1968 the players have gotten better. He attributes this to Churchland's excellent weight program and to the fact that the players today seem to work much harder. Today's record at Churchland High School stands at seventy-one wins, seventy-five loses and three ties. Strickland has no plans to retire in the near future but will "take each year one at a time."

Our veteran. 1982 is Coach Strickland's fifteenth year as Head Coach of the Truckers.

J.V. DEVELOPS SKILLS

Although the 1982-83 junior Varsity Football Team only finished at 1-4-2, Coach Ron Lawson explained that winning was not important on this level. "The purpose of J.V. Football was not winning but teaching basics, fundamentals, and giving the boys experience for Varsity play," commented Head Coach Bruce Phelps. He continued by explaining that it was not important that the Baby Truckers have a winning record, but that the players develop into better athletes for their future years. The success of the Junior Varsity program is reflected not by its record but by the ability of its players in future years on the Varsity squad. "Some teams moved players up and down from Varsity to Junior Varsity in order to win a game," explained Coach Lawson. "But we did not. We wanted to give the younger boys needed experience." All the coaches, including Frank Roberson, agreed that the 1982-83 Baby Truckers accomplished much and made great improvements.

The players themselves were described as a great bunch of guys by Coach Phelps. Although they lost most of their games, morale remained high and the players were always up for the next game. Some of the outstanding players were Keith Maddrey at quarterback and Jeff Hales at running back — both sophomores. Other fine athletes included sophomores Danny Nero and Terri Hyams, and freshman Lee Cobb.

C.C. LACKS MEMBERS

The 1982 Churchland High School Cross Country Team consisted of 4 runners on the boy's squad and two runners on the girls' squad. This meant that the Truckers had no chance of winning any because a squad must have five runners to even qualify to win. Coach Shelton Wilson expressed disappointment over this but noted that it showed how dedicated those who stayed on the team were. "I had enough runners to have a chance to win some meets but a few quit midway through the season," he commented. "The runners who stayed with the team deserve a lot of honor. It's a shame that they couldn't win any meets. I'v very proud."

The team was composed of ninth and tenth graders. On the Boys' Squad were Merrill Teemant, John Lewis, Allen Pearce, and Derek Johnson. The Girls' Squad consisted of Jackie Venters and Maragret Senecal. Merrill Teemant was the best runner on the team, with a time of eighteen minutes twenty seconds (or 18:20).

The team practiced everyday. Practices consisted of running seven to eight miles or three to five miles and doing sprints. Sprints usually consisted of five fifty-yard dashes and five — 100 yard dashes. "Practice was very hard and the team was exhausted after each session," said top runner Merrill Teemant.

JUST SMASHING

Even before school had started the devoted members of the girls' tennis team had already begun practice. Coached by Steve Liles the girls ended the season with a 5-4 season. The team only had 3 returning players from last year. The returning players, seniors Tracy Griffin, and Marion and Irene Thurner, filled the top 3 seedings of the team while the bottom 3 were filled with Pam Hunt, Gee Kim and Lisa Kirsch who Coach Liles expects to lead the team next year. Coach Liles was pleased with the team's performance this year but with so much experience returning next year he has set his sights high.

YOUNG TEAM IN '83

The Churchland High School Gymnastics team had 12 members in 1983 as this portion of the athletics program continued to go strong. This year's team was very young. There were no seniors and only two juniors on the squad. The rest were all underclassmen. The team was coached by Joe Bystrom.

The Gymnastics team did well for their experience by winning about half of their meets. The team's leaders, junior Kolleen Burr and sophomore Kim Heise, both made regional competition. Kolleen advanced on balance beam and floor routine while Kim advanced in the all-around category. Throughout the season the girls improved greatly and gained valuable experience for future years.

BALANCE, SPEED, AND STRENGTH

"Wrestling is a sport where a person needs the balance of a cat, the speed of a snake, and the strength of a bear," said Senior Eddie Woody. "When a person has combined these traits with the counseling of the Southeastern District's dean of coaches, Mr. Jack Mounie, he will go a long way in this sport."

In the 1983 season many individual wrestlers went a long way with six making it to regional competition. Of those six, two were underclassmen. Although the young 1983 Churchland Trucker Varsity Wrestling squad finished with its first losing record (3-5-1) in 25 years under Coach Mounie, they came back in the District Tournament to finish third. "This year's team was the youngest and the most inexperienced of any team I've coached in a long time."commented Coach Mounie. "We really surprised some people at the District Tournament, though."

The District Tournament saw Churchland wrestlers do well with six making it to regionals. Senior Bobby Wynn came out on top as the 1983 Southeastern District 132 lb. champion. Senior Shawn Phillips was 138 lb. runner-up and senior Chris Mounie came in third place in the 176 lb. class. Others making it to regionals were senior Frank Mosteller, sophomore Mike Rantanataya, and freshman Lee Cobb. In the regionals Chris Mounie missed fourth place by only one point. One needs to place fourth to make it to the state finals.

The 1983 wrestling squad was both young and inexperienced. Of the 13 members, 2 were first year wrestlers and 4 were underclassmen. Andy Smart and John Outten did well as first year wrestlers while Mike Rantanataya, Guy Hale, and Lee Cobb competed as underclassmen with some experience. The team was led by returning district champion Chris Mounie, Captain Shawn Phillips and seniors Bobby Wynn, Frank Mosteller and Steve Roberts.

Steve commented "It's challenging because it's an individual sport. If you win you know you did it on your own. If you lose, you can't blame anyone else." Coach Mounie noted that the entire squad "Worked hard and improved more than any team he has ever coached. We should be real good next year."

J.V. GAIN EXPERIENCE

In 1983, as always, Junior Varsity Wrestling was only a stepping stone to Varsity Wrestling. No records were kept, for J.V. Wrestling was only used to give the young wrestlers much needed experience. The 1982 squad was highly inexperienced with Jeff Carmines and Dusty Crone as the only returning wrestlers. The team was led by John Thigpen and Judd Mendelson. Freshman Dusty Crone, who wrestled in the 98 pound category said, "It was a learning experience, for all of us felt next year we'll be ready."

POOR SEASON DOES NOT DAMPER TRUCKERS' SPIRITS

The Boys' Varsity Basketball team had a disappointing season. With seven returning players a winning season was assured. However, as senior player, Ed Hohmann sadly reported, "It's like we never got on track. We proved that by losing the first nine games we played." The Boys' Varsity Basketball team compiled a season record of two wins and seventeen losses. In the words of Shelton Wilson, "We had a tough season. This year's squad also lacked height, which affected the ability to control the boards."

In the words of junior player Michael Williams, "I couldn't understand it. We had seven returning players to start off the season with. All of them had some playing time. Still I guess we lacked the needed experience."

Regardless of the team's inability to out-score their opposing teams, the team members had a fun season. The afternoon practices, tough though they were, proved to be a time of fellowship for the players. When you spend hours a day with the other members they become a second family. The basketball court was a "home away from home" for the boy's varsity basketball team.

Despite the teams lack of experience and height, they were able to secure a victory over arch-rival Western Branch. That victory was the height of the basketball season and made all the teams efforts worthwhile.

Team members were senior starters Ed Hohmann, Billy Kline, and Brian Veal. Mike Williams and Robert Farmer were junior starters. Veteran returnees were Brant Cox and Anthony Houston. Rounding out the field were Mike Carroll, Kenny Moore, Ira Bowden, Kevin Hicks, Tony James and Kevin Young.

The friendships that these team members share will be remembered much longer than their disappointing season.

SHORT ON EXPERIENCE

In the words of Coach Carl Rhodes, "The boys lacked experience." The 1982-83 Junior Varsity Basketball Team had only four returning players and only one returning starter. The 1982-83 starters were Keith Maddrey, Todd Butler, Gerald Flowers, Brian Maupin and Anthony Edwards. Other members were Albert Gregory, Terry Norman and Jeff Stith with Joel Cocke, Jeff Hale, William Ricks, Craig Ricks and Lee Havird giving depth to the bench. Sophomore starter Keith Maddrey commented on the teams 1-12 season, "The team lacked height." The bright spot of the season came with the defeating of the Great Bridge Wildcats.

LADY TRUCKERS HAVE GREAT SEASON

"The 1983 Girls' Varsity Basketball team was one of the most exciting teams we've had in the last few years," said Coach Robert Phelps. Although the team finished the season with a 9-11 record they showed significant improvement and played very strong at the end of the season. Midway through the season their record was 3-7. In the second half of the season the Lady Truckers faired much better, winning six games and losing four. At season's end the Lady Truckers were in sixth place. In the district tournament, they lost in the quarterfinals. Ginny Ward and Robin Yarborough played very well, making the all-tournament team.

The 1983 starters were Ginny Ward, Jennifer Plott, Robin Yarborough, Lisa Saunders and Amie Baron. Of the thirteen starters, only four were seniors. Three of them had never played in high school before, including Lisa Saunders. Ginny Ward and Robin Yarborough led the team in scoring with an average of 11 points per game and Ginny and Lisa Saunders led the team in rebounds with an average of 8 rebounds per game.

The Lady Truckers had some tough competition in 1983. The southeastern district is one of the toughest in the state. Teams from this district have made it to the regionals for the last three years.

In 1983 the Girls' Varsity Basketball team had a great time. "We were closer than any team I've ever played on," said senior Ginny Ward. "It was real exciting" she continued. "Our most impressive game was our 38-36 win over Western Branch," said Coach Phelps. "They were really great for they worked well together and strived to improve."

The 1983 Girls' J.V. Basketball team was coached by Rosemarie Russo and helped out by assistant coach Maryann Grimes. Both of these coaches taught at Portsmouth Catholic. The captain of the squad was Kristina Davis.

The season was very exciting as the squad finished the season with an 8-5 record. "The team got along real well," said captain Kristina Davis. "We had a super season." The team got especially good performances from Vernelle Greene at point guard and Tracey Wyatt at center.

PRIDE IN COACHING

Coach. This word meant a lot to students at Churchland High School in 1982-83. Being a coach meant hours of hard work and determination that only few could handle. Besides his regular job of teaching a classroom, a coach had to spend much time practicing after school, designing new techniques and tactics, and consulting his players.

For what reason did the coaches put forth so much time and effort? Coach Mounie explained, "I like working with young people. It gives me great pleasure." Coach Strickland commented that he enjoyed watching his players improve. "It gives me a feeling of accomplishment," he continued. Coach Rhodes cited his belief in physical fitness, saying, "I feel that athletics builds character." Coach Liles enjoyed being visited by players or students from years past and was proud that they were grateful to him for all his help. Truly, being a coach in 1982-83 was an honor that only people of great character could uphold.

Cheers

Coordination is what it takes; but that was not all. CHS cheerleaders must have spirit, pep, and enthusiasm. The girls started practicing in early August under hot weather conditions. As school began, practice was reduced to only two times a week because many were involved in other school activities. The Varsity squad was led by the talents of captain Lisa Saunders, and co-captains Lory Crone and Stacey Smith. The Junior Varsity squad cheered under captain Julie Andrews and her co-captains Louise Budnick and Cherri Porter.

For years the cheerleaders had been using the same cheers. The 1982-83 cheerleaders took a bold step forward by adding many new and exciting cheers. Many of the cheers used exciting dance steps and catchy phrases that required much skill and hard work to perfect. The most popular of these was "The Jam" or "The Stomp." The cheerleaders boogied like they had never boogied before with this rowdy cheer.

SPRING TRAINING

In order to perform well during the season, the athletes started training in advance. Many teams started practice before school started. Churchland's nine spring sports, boys' track, girls' track, boys' varsity baseball, boys' junior varsity baseball, boys' tennis, soccer, golf, and girls' softball, began practicing in late February. Even though the season for some of the teams were actually months away, each team member knew that hard practice was the only answer to success.

ADVERTISING ADVERTISING

Over the years high school annuals have increased in price. In order to put together a yearbook that students can afford, the yearbook staff sold advertisements to Portsmouth merchants. Without the sponsorship of area businesses, this yearbook would not have been possible. Many of the merchants in the annual employed students, were graduates of Churchland High, or were interested in supporting public school projects. Area merchants took pride in their school community by supporting football programs, school yearbooks, school newspapers, and by supplying athletic teams with uniforms and equipment. Community support helped the Truckers stay on track.

IN THE NEWS

A school year can not only be remembered for the happenings in the school and its surrounding area. The news of the world, tragedies and successes, put their mark on the school years 1982-83. Some of the events are better off forgotten while others will be happily passed on from generation to generation.

In the world of sports, boxing fans saw Heavyweight Champ Larry Holmes win a thirteen round TKO over Gerry Cooney, the Great White Hope. In the World Series, the battle of the Breweries, baseball fans watched the St. Louis Cardinals conquer the Milwaukee Brewers. Another record was set in professional baseball, Ricky Henderson, star of the Oakland A's, stole a record of 130 bases. Virginia's favorite, the Washington Redskins, passed and blocked their way to victory over the Miami Dolphins in the Super Bowl. The world of sports was saddened by the loss of Leroy "Satchees" Paige, who was one of baseball's greatest pitchers.

In the area of entertainment, Director Steven Spielburg presented America with his lovable character "E.T." Raquel Welch took over Lauren Bacall's character in the Broadway hit "Women of the Year." Richard Geer stole hearts in An Officer and a Gentleman. "The Winds of War" by Herman Wouk showec America how it was under the dictatorship of Hitler. The entertainment world lost many celebrities. Actor Henry Fonda, who received an Oscar for his role in On Golden Pond died at the age of seventy-seven. Karen Carpenter left us at the young age of 35 but her fine music will live on. The ragtime great, Eubie Blake, passed away a few days after celebrating his one-hundreth birthday.

Prince Charles and Princess Diane blessed the world with the birth of their first child William Arthur Philip Louis. The tale of a perfect royal romance continued to entrance the world. on a sad note, Princess Grace of Monaco died after a car accident. The world mourned her passing.

On the domestic scene, John De Lorean, king of sport's cars, was a arrested for his dealings with cocaine. The traditional trick-or-treating at Halloween was hindered by the Tylenol killings. The Independent Trucker's went on strike which caused much violence. In Washington D.C., a memorial was unveiled for the dead or missing American servicemen of Viet Nam.

On the political side of the news George Schultz was sworn in as Secretary of State replacing Alexander Haig. President Reagan continued to push for a large Defense buget in Congress, while Congress stressed the need for a jobs bill. Unemployment was a key issue on the domestic front. The international scene, the year saw the bombing of Beirut by Lebanese forces. Solidarity leader Lech Walesa was freed after an eleven-month internment. Leonid Brezhnev died after ruling the U.S.S.R. for 18 years and was replaced by former KGB Yuri Andropov.

Before January 1. Coleman Nursery, located on High Street, is famed fo its Christmas Wonderland.

After January 1. Because of arson, the Nursery is reduced to rubble. A fund was started in the months that followed to replace Christmas Wonderland.

LOOKING BACK AT 1982-83

Everybody's truckin' towards success in athletics, in academics, and in the arts. With the TRS-80 computers and new classes in Data Processing and Economics, Churchland was truckin' into the future. The students were becoming involved in the next dynamic age, "the Third Wave."

New trends in fashions signalled the approach of a new age. The fashion conscious girls sported brightly colored mini skirts which were soon banned from school in September. Yet, they managed with their tuxedo outfits and punk clothes. Who could forget the dog collars and striped hair worn during Spirit Week of Homecoming?

With the spirit being lead by the seniors during Spirit Week and Powder Puff, they nevertheless were elated to see graduation right around the corner so they could keep on truckin' down their paths to success.

Pep rallies. Each class tries to out-yell the other during the school pep rallies.

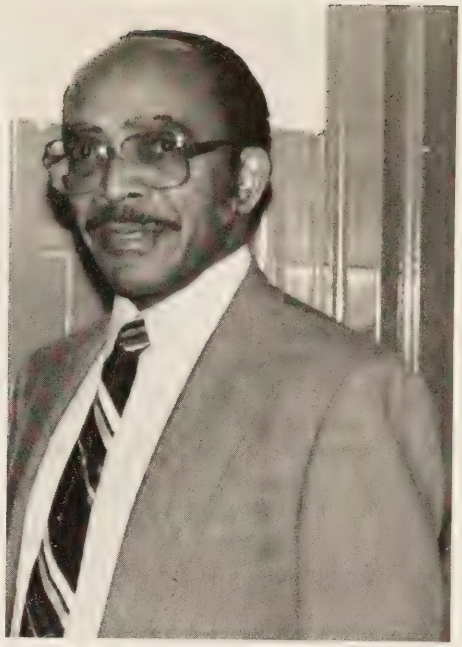
This is the problem. Mrs. Taliaferro lectures the student body.

What's success? Ralph Waldo Emerson put it this way: "To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauy; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived. This is to have succeeded."



Wisdom. Mr. Paige is a great example of a man with great knowledge and experience.

Singing their hearts out. Maryann West and Mike Joyner sing at one of the final shows.

This is the plan. Mr. Morgan tells the seniors the decisions made for graduation.

Trucker pride. The football team examplifies this great motto.
